

GRAF ZEPPELIN SPEEDS EASTWARD

State Firemen To Attend Barbecue At Irvine Park

HOT CONTEST IS EXPECTED AT ELECTION

Los Angeles Captain Who Is President Now Seeks Post For Another Year

GOVERNOR SPEAKER

Convention Opened Yesterday at Fullerton with 1000 Delegates Present

ONE THOUSAND firemen and their families are expected to attend the barbecue slated for tonight at Irvine park, it was announced at state convention
headquarters in Fullerton this morning. A dance with music furnished by the Los Angeles fire department band will follow.

At this morning's business session in the Fox Mission theater,
the two-cent tax proposed by members of the state association provoked lively discussion. Proponents seek to have the measure
placed on the ballot in November.
It provides for protection of firemen while on duty.

Oakland and Monterey are leading candidates for the honor of entertaining the firemen in 1930.
Election of officers is slated
for tomorrow morning. Capt.
A. W. Myers, of Los Angeles, present president, is a candidate for re-election. Delegates from the northern part of the state feel that the new president should come from northern California, it is declared, and a hot contest is anticipated.

Demonstration of life-saving apparatus took place today.

Visiting firemen will be guests of the Fullerton Breakfast club
tomorrow morning at 7 a. m., when breakfast will be served on East Commonwealth avenue. A number of vaudeville stunts will be provided.

The principal address at the opening session yesterday afternoon
was delivered by Governor Young,
who spoke of plans of the state
to provide trained fire fighters in combating forest fires. The gov-

CLASH BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE MARKS CONCLAVE

WILLEBRANDT'S EXPOSE CAUSES MUCH COMMENT

Flat Denial Made By Former Assistant Attorney General of Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—
(UP)—Political Washington
today was preparing to witness the most spectacular side show it has seen since the departed days
of the Hoover-Smith campaign as Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt and James Francis Burke disputed the origin and sanctions of the former assistant attorney general's famous Springfield, O., appeal to Methodists
to enlist in the anti-Smith cause.

In a statement issued last night
the counsel for the Republican national committee flatly denied he had approved, edited or seen Mrs.
Willebrandt's exhortation to ministers to attack Smith from their pulpits. His flat denial followed by only a few hours a conference at the White House with President Hoover.

Mrs. Willebrandt, in a series of newspaper articles wherein she has promised to "tell all" of Washington's inside story about prohibition enforcement declared Burke had edited her Springfield speech. Moreover, she said the speech was made over her protests and at the specific instance of the Republican national committee.

The Burke denial, it was believed here today, may be only the first of a series which will be occasioned
as politicians now in power seek to protect themselves, or the administration, from the famous woman lawyer's expose.

Burke's statement, issued as a formal press memorandum, follows
in full:

"Ordinarily I pay no attention to campaign canards, but in the interest of truth and all concerned I am compelled to deny that during the last presidential campaign I ever urged or suggested that Mrs. Wille-brandt discuss any man's religion or any religious subject, nor did I ever insert or attempt to insert any religious comment in any speech
she made or intended to make nor was any manuscript or hers containing any attack on any man's religious or personal character or raising the religious issue ever submitted to or scrutinized by me, nor did any manuscript of her Springfield speech which came to head-

THREE JAILED IN $75,000 ROBBERY

SEATTLE, Aug. 8.—Two men and a woman were arrested early today as a result of a robbery in which baggage checks on a trunk were exchanged and jewelry valued at $75,000 was obtained.

The robbery was reported by Ernest E. Strauss, salesman for a New York jewelry house.

Those arrested were Robert Osborne, 29, bellboy; Barbara Owens, 21, waitress, and W. Griswold, 27, salesman. They were held on suspicion of having been implicated in the robbery.

The three were said to have been in possession of a trunk containing the description of that lost by Strauss. It was to be opened at police headquarters today.

School Students' Gambling Dive Is Raided By Police

LONG BEACH, Aug. 8.—(UP)—
An alleged gambling den for youths was under investigation
here today after police raided the Delta Eta fraternity house.

The house was entered by officers when neighbors complained of wild parties during the early morning hours.

Forty boys, said to have been playing poker and throwing dice,
were arrested and the names of 150 more, believed to be members of the "fraternity," were found in a book.

Police said most of the youths were juniors or seniors in high school.

Film Studio Selects Typical Girl

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8.—
(UP)—The typical Hollywood
chorus girl is 19 years old, weighs 108 pounds, has bobbed
hair and is 5 feet 3 inches tall, First National studios said today in announcing the end of a contest in which 107 girls competed.

As a result of the competition, Maxine Cantway, formerly of Chicago, was declared to be the typical chorus girl and was placed under contract with the company.

LIGHT TOURNEY AT BALBOA TO BE SATURDAY

Illuminated Water Carnival
Will Start at 8 p. m.
Managers Declare

PLANS are practically completed at Newport and Balboa
for the staging of the tenth annual Tournament of Lights, the west's greatest illuminated water carnival. The event is set for Newport Bay this Saturday evening.

A parade of almost every conceivable kind of craft, from tiny canoes and rowboats to yachts and cruisers, will be held in the bay,
the feature event of "The Lights"
starting about 8 p. m. One hundred and fifty brilliantly lighted effects will be more gorgeous than ever before, with many new electrical and other dazzling effects.

The magnificent spectacle will be visible from the south shore of Balboa island, the bluffs of Conejo del Mar and Newport Heights, and the north shore of the Newport-Balboa Peninsula. It is estimated that from these points 10,000 people can see the aquatic festa.

Some of the floats will have music and there will be two displays of fireworks in connection with the event, one on Balboa Island and the other in the Bay at Newport.

Prizes will again be offered for the best decorated and illuminated craft in each of the several divisions, including one for "yachts
at anchor."

Never has it been necessary to postpone this event, owing to weather conditions, which is a fine tribute to the climate of this part of the southland. Again there will be "a million dancing lights on one in a million nights."

Governor Young and his family will attend the tournament, it was announced today by J. A.
Beek, manager of the event. Word that the state's chief executive would be a spectator was received this morning.

NEW U. S. AIRPLANE SLATED FOR TESTS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 8.—(UP)—
The United States Navy's airplane Mystery, built in secrecy as a challenge to all present speed records, may be tested today.

Lieut. Alford J. Williams, ace of navy speedsters, was here for the experiment and expected to take the trim little Mercury racer aloft either today or tomorrow. Navy officials believe the plane capable of a speed of 400 miles an hour.

The few naval officers who have had a glimpse of the tiny racing craft, which is only 20 feet from nose to rudder, and with a wing spread of only 23 feet, admit themselves as amazed at its novel design. It was agreed that failure of the engines would cause the plane
to fall like a plummet, as the wing spread is insufficient to permit a gliding landing.

62,923 BOXES OF VALENCIAS GO TO EUROPE

An Additional 70,000 to Be Dispatched By Orange County

ASSOCIATIONS affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange have sent 62,923 boxes
of valencia oranges to Europe this season, it was announced today by L. D. Palmer, manager. Also shipped to Europe were 2414 boxes of grapefruit.

Before the present season is closed
an additional 70,000 boxes of oranges will be exported, Palmer stated.

The associations have sent $430 boxes of valencias, 2175 boxes of lemons and 265 boxes of grapefruit to Honolulu, 2067 boxes of fruit to China, 2904 boxes to New Zealand and 215 boxes to Japan.

The California Fruit Growers'
exchange, of which the county organization is a member, expects to export 1,000,000 cases of valencia
oranges this season.

Angeles today attending a meeting of members of the boards of fornia counties.

The meeting of the supervisors,
which is for the purpose of formulating an association to co-operate on matters pertaining to this section of the state, was held in the Los Angeles Hall of Records

president of the state association,

Meet Adjourns For 24 Hours To End Fight

First Meeting of Financial Commission on Reparations Is Held

BY FREDERICK KUH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

THE HAGUE, Aug. 8.—(UP)— Such a clash of interest developed between England on the one side and France, Italy,
and Belgium on the other at today's first meeting of the financial commission of the international reparations conference that the delegates were obliged to adjourn.

The dispute was over the question of percentages by which Ger-man's reparations payments will be distributed among her creditors.
England demands a revision and a larger share. The meeting was adjourned for 24 hours to seek a solution.

The meeting saw the struggle for revision of the young plan in full force. Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, reviving his known demands, insisted forcefully that Britain receive a larger share of unconditional reparations payments; that German delinquencies in kind be curtailed and Britain's total reparations quota increased.

He put the demands even more emphatically before, and gave a hint of Britain's unyielding attitude by saying the situation reminded him of the man who wanted his house painted blue while his wife wanted it painted white. So, said Snowden, they compromised
and painted it blue.

The commission will meet again
Saturday morning. Edwin C. Wilson, the United States observer at the conference, is a member of the commission.

The first meeting of the conference's political commission, also held today, was more peaceful. Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, submitted a plan for the commission's work comprising two points—evacuation, and a commission to control the Rhineland after evacuation.

SLATER ALSO WILL FACE MURDER COUNT

A criminal complaint charging murder was scheduled to be filed
this afternoon against Allen Slater, 21-year-old Long Beach youth, in connection with the death of Roy Kirk. It was announced by District Attorney Bert West at 2:30.
Slater was a companion of Albert Nava, another Long Beach
youth, against whom a complaint charging murder in connection with the same case was filed several days ago, and has been held in the Orange county jail pending investigation conducted by the district attorney's office. Decision to bring the charge against Slater was made this afternoon after a careful survey of all the evidence was made,
West said.

$3200 SNAKE SWALLOWS $2.79 BLANKET AND VALUE DECLINES

CANTON, O., Aug. 8.—(UP)—
An introspective person—or snake, as the case may be—is one who looks within himself.
Every time big Samson, 32-foot python, turns his eyes
inward, he sees a wet blanket
shrouding his happiness.

Nineteen days ago Samson
greedily swallowed a blanket
in which a pigeon, which was to have been his dessert, sought safety. For 19 days the huge reptile has been in agony, despite efforts of doctors and snake specialists to relieve him.

When a representative of the Standard Oil company advised mineral oil, Claude Poe, Sam-son's owner, obligingly poured

a day's output of a certified gusher down the python's subway, without relief to Samson.

With the suggestion "albumin dissolves cotton—give the snake some eggs," the generous Poe rammed a tube far into Sammy's tummy and poured in five dozen eggs.

Still the mist remained over Samson's eyes.

Big Samson was valued at $3200, or $100 a foot—before he ate the blanket. The blanket cost $2.79.

Stuffed python skins are worth considerably less than that. Poe believes something must happen soon or that is what Samson is going to be.

PLAN FOR CONSERVATION OF WATER IN ORANGE COUNTY IS SUBMITTED BY C. R. BROWNING

C. R. BROWNING, resident engineer for the Irvine company, recently submitted a plan for conservation of water in Orange county.
His plan was favorably commented upon by Horace Head, local attorney, and encouraged Mr. Irvine to go deeper into his plan, which he herewith submits, as a workable plan.

By R. C. BROWNING

Some time ago Mr. Horace Head stated in the papers, to the effect, that he thought my suggestion of a plan of water conservation and Flood Control at Prado had some merit. He took exception however,
to my statement "that the two major water companies are the greatest wasters of water in the county because of the water loss,
by evaporation and transpiration
at Prado." My statement accomplished its purpose, which was to bring to the attention of the people by discussion, the fact of that loss of water.

I know as well as Mr. Head and the water companies that the cure
of such loss is beyond their power
because the expense would be too great, however, by co-operating with the county as a whole, the saving of that very material loss
in water could be accomplished.
Some say it would be impossible to tile the Prado Basin and save that water which is now lost and I say it can be done. Much more difficult drainage problems have been accomplished in various parts of the world. It may be that a combination of underground pipes and open ditches and wells would be necessary to accomplish this work.

I know that the drainage can be accomplished because about eight years ago some half dozen property owners in the Prado and Corona basins employed me to plan a drainage system for them. I put in the cheapest system to meet their needs and that was a series of open ditches. I started at the Chino bridge on the Newberry Ranch, which is now the property of the Excelsior Creamery Co. and dug a ditch to a point about one mile below Corona on the Copelan ranch. Much of the land traversed by this ditch was swampy and either taken by alkali or willows and tule and today that land is dry and good farming land. It is a known fact that if the water

RUSSIAN PLANE HOPS OFF FOR UNITED STATES

Four Occupants Leave
Moscow and Will Fly
Over Alaska

MOSCOW, Aug. 8.—(UP)—Russia's bid for a place in the aviation sun began at 2:50 a.
m. today, (7:50 p. m., Wednesday, E.S.T.) when the huge two-motored plane "Land of the Soviets" roared away from the military flying field here, bound for Omsk, enroute to New York.

The plane's four occupants expect to fly over frozen Siberia and Alaska, stop at Seattle and San Francisco, head eastward to Chicago and their goal on the eastern seaboard.

Omsk, the immediate objective of the multi-stop flight to New York, is 963 miles from Moscow.
The first leg of the flight is expected to take the four Soviet "Land of the Soviets" one-third of the way coast.

The aviators who are attempting to call world attention to Russia's development of aviation
—the Soviet union now has aircraft in service over 11,700 miles
of land—are Shestakov, Bolotov Sterlingov, and Fufayev. The plane they are using is Soviet-built with foreign motors.

SUSPECT HELD IN L. A. MAN'S DEATH

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—(UP)— Tiller Buchanan, 26, Compton, was held by police today as a suspect in the murder of Frank A. Foster, wealthy soap manufacturer.

Buchanan was said to resemble the description of one of the two men who stopped Foster and Miss Beth Taylor near Foster's apartment and shot the manufacturer
when he was slow in raising his hands.

Miss Taylor was unable to say positively if Buchanan was one of the men when she was called to identify him. The youth was arrested by two officers when he attempted to flee and then tried to flee in a car said to be stolen.

U.S. ATTORNEY SEEKS OFFICE OF GOVERNOR

(UP)—George J. Hatfield, United States district attorney here, has thrown his hat into the political ring.

It was learned today that he would seek the Republican nomination for governor of California.
While not denying the report
of his candidacy, Hatfield said,
"I cannot make a complete announcement of my plans."

Organization of the Republican War Veterans, Inc., by Hatfield, is expected to furnish the nucleus
for his political machinery.

DIRIGIBLE IS 750 MILES OUT AT NOON

Hugo Eckener Making Direct Dash Over Atlantic
And Is Traveling Fast

STARTS WORLD TRIP
First Stop Will Be Made
At Friedrichshafen Port
And Second In Tokio

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 8.—
(UP)—The Graf Zeppelin soared swiftly eastward over the Atlantic today bound for her port of Friedrichshafen on the first part of a pioneer commercial flight
around the world.

Her radio sputtered the message
"All's well" to stations along the eastern coast. Two ships, the Rochambeau and President Roosevelt, sighted her sailing proudly toward Europe in a direct line.

At 11 a. m., E. S. T., she was computed to be about 750 miles due east of Lakehurst, her commander,
Dr. Hugo Eckener, apparently having changed his intention, announced when the Graf left here at 11:45
E. S. T., last night, of following the Lindbergh trail.

Her commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener, hoped to follow the Lindbergh transatlantic trail with its favorable tailwinds if weather permitted,
but at 7 a. m. the Zeppelin's position flushed to the navy at Washington showed she was veering to the south from Col. Lindbergh's course.

At that hour the Graf was about 300 miles east of New York and was making 75 miles an hour.

At 12:50 a. m. E.S.T., two radio messages were received at the naval air station here direct from the dirigible.

One was addressed to Secretary of the Navy Adams:

"On leaving the shores of your wonderful country, desire most urgently to express to you admiration and sincere thanks for the splendid hospitality which we have been privileged to enjoy at your naval air station, Lakehurst, and your goodly support which made possible our presently started flight around the world."

(Signed) ECKENER."

One was addressed to Lieut.
Com. Maurice R. Pierce, commander of the Lakehurst air station.
It read:

"On leaving your hospitable ground I wish to thank you again,
yourself, your officers and men,
for the most excellent assistance

PASADENA PASTOR CLEARED OF CHARGE

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 8.—Dr.
John Marvin Dean, Pasadena, Calif., and former pastor of the Hinson Memorial church here,
was exonerated last night of all charges made against him by the board of deacons.

Members of the congregation
declared by an almost unanimous vote that the action of the board was "unconstitutional."

Dr. Dean, former president of the Western Theological seminary
here and pastor of the church,
resigned both positions in June.
Both resignations were accepted,
and Dr. Dean's work was commended.

Last week the board of deacons met and declared that Dr. Dean had conducted himself "unbecomingly a minister of the gospel and Jesus Christ."

MAURETANIA FAILS TO BREAK RECORD

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(UP)—
The Cunard liner Mauretania failed
by more than four hours today in an attempt to break the North German Lloyd Bremen record of 4 days, 17 hours, 42 minutes for crossing the Atlantic from Cherbourg.

The former pride of the seas,
slowed down by rough weather,
reached Ambrose Lightship at 10:30
a. m. E. D. T. She left Cherbourg at 12:52 p. m. E. D. T. Saturday.

The voyage was made in 4 days, 21 hours and 44 minutes, several hours better than the Mauretania's best previous time. The ship reached quarantine at 11:42 a. m.

and co-operation which we have had the pleasure to enjoy. Auf Wiedersehen.

"(Signed) Eckener."

In the Graf's cabins are 32 passengers, in the hold a cargo of mail and freight aggregating about two tons. After stopping in Germany at Friedrichshafen, the Graf will visit Tokyo, fly across the Pacific to Los Angeles and return again to Lakehurst.

"The mission of the Graf Zeppelin," said Eckener before departing, "is not to make money—it is to prove to your financiers that commercial transportation by airships is safe, feasible and potentially profitable."

The Zeppelin's removal from this hangar and the launching into the air were miracles of motion. Only five minutes were required to walk her 775 foot bulk into the open. Seventeen minutes later she was aloft, four motors in hoarse chorus and the fifth beneath the stern silent against greater need farther north.

Emerging from the hangar on to the field where searchlights smeared paths of whiteness in the night, the Graf was tremendous. Out of here element and on the ground, the craft seemed unwieldy while she dwarfed the scores of men who clung to her hawsers.

Somewhere along within her body bells tinkled. Her motors awoke, spewing fire from exhaust pipes and hurling a barrage of racket in all directions.

Some 5000 spectators raised a cheer that was swept away in the noise. Within the cabin Eckener's hand moved to the motor room controls. The warmed up Maybachs spun faster. Ropes dropped from the hands of the ground crew and were hauled aboard. The shrouding men beneath the cabin shoved upward. Nose up, the Graf departed and in five minutes she was gone from sight.

Credit for the mastery maneuver must be shared between the German airmen and the U. S. navy. Without the facilities of the United States government here the Graf could not have visited the United States. For three days naval mechanics, technicians and officers labored to prepare the Zeppelin for her voyage.

PAN-AMERICANISM LAUDED IN SPEECH

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—(UP)—"Pan-Americanism has made the greatest progress of any idea of continental, international solidarity in the history of the world," Chilean Ambassador Carlos Davila declared last night before Governor Young and representatives of 23 nations.

The ambassador was guest of honor at a banquet presided over by Dr. R. B. Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California, who conferred an honorary degree of doctor of laws on the ambassador in the name of the university.

Ambassador Davila will leave Los Angeles on the Southern Pacific daylight limited tomorrow at 7:15 a. m., and will arrive in the bay city at 7:45 p. m.

He will dine tonight aboard the Chilean naval training bark General Baquedano, which also will leave tomorrow for a short stay in the northern port.

A STEADY CALLER

PARIS, Aug. 8.—(UP)—The head of a Luxemburg brewery might as well sell half interest in his dog to his gardener friend who lives outside of town. The dog became attached to the gardener and three or four times a week hops a train and rides to visit him.

12 MEXICANS HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Twelve Mexican laborers received minor injuries, requiring first aid treatment in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, last night, when the truck on which they were riding home from work overturned after a collision with an automobile at the intersection of Fairhaven road and the road leading toward El Modena from the Newport road.

About 20 men were riding on the truck at the time of the accident and they were scattered all over the intersection after the truck overturned, reports of the wreck state. The truck was owned by Callens brothers, Ramon Cordova, with one of the main tendons on the back of his left hand severed, was the most seriously injured.

quarters contain any such expression as (go back to your pulpits and preach this doctrine) or anything akin to it.

"It is needless to say had Mrs. Willebrandt or any other person submitted to me a speech attacking my own religion I would have resented or repudiated it."

Burke is a member of the Roman Catholic church, to which former Governor Alfred E. Smith belongs. Inasmuch as the Burke statement came shortly after he had dined with President Hoover, it was believed probable the matter of Mrs. Willebrandt's expose was discussed between them.

The particular speech of Mrs. Willebrandt's over which the issue has arisen was made before a conference or Methodist ministers at Springfield during the Hoover Smith campaign. In it Mrs. Willebrandt was reported to have urged the clerics to take up the anti-Smith battle from their pulpits, largely because of the prohibition issue.

can be kept about 8 or 10 feet from the surface of the ground there will be no loss by evaporation and, while it may not be practical to reduce the water level to that point, we could at least materially reduce the loss now going on.

I maintain that the best results would obtain by the construction of a dam at Prado in conjunction with an underground drainage system which would be closed by gates when the reservoir contained flood water and opened when the reservoir was empty.

Drainage System

This drainage system would tap all the rising springs in the basin below the ground and no matter how much silt should occur in the reservoir the water from these springs would be kept under ground and conveyed through the dam to the river channel below. In this way, it is my contention, the backing up effect of a dam at that point would be eliminated and the water would not stand as high in the Prado basin as it does now.

I suggested the possible construction of a floating type of dam at Prado which would not be connected in any way with bedrock in the stream bed of the river. That type of dam would require very much more yardage of material, for the slopes would, necessarily, be very flat and would cost somewhat more than one with a concrete cut off wall to bedrock. However either type of dam would be perfectly safe and including the drainage system be much cheaper than the proposed lower dam. Wishing to have my plan checked by someone of wide experience, I secured the services of Major C. R. Olberg, assistant chief engineer of the U. S. Indian service. He designed and built the Coolidge dam on the Gila River in Arizona, designed the Roosevelt dam and has consulted in many reclamation projects throughout the United States as well as in Mexico. Major Olberg after studying Mr. Bailey's report spent some time with me along the Santa Ana river and the following is his letter to me:

"In confirmation of our discussion at the time of our visit to the upper Prado dam site, I am glad to advise you that in my opinion there would be no difficulty in constructing an earth fill dam at that site, based on the principle of the Indian weir. A dam of this type would have sufficient base width to prevent destructive percolation through the river bed beneath the dam. It would be fully as safe as an earth fill dam provided with an impervious concrete extending to bedrock, and it would tend to increase rather than diminish the under flow now passing down the river.

Safety Assured

Since the stability of the dam is dependent on the length of pre-calculation across the base, the same result can be secured with a dam of smaller cross section, by means of an impervious apron behind the dam. The safety of the dam can be assured by means of proper drainage.

The assumption that a dam at the upper Prado site would force water from the basin of the Santa Ana river, is in my opinion not worthy of serious consideration. This condition, once occurs, and then seldom, in regions of plutonic rock and in gypsum formations. If this were probable the swampy condition of the ground above the dam site would not occur. A dam with an impervious core to bedrock would stop the underflow and bring it to the surface. This flow could be collected and discharged through the dam, and delivered by means of pipe, if necessary, to the intakes of the lower canals. In collecting the underflow, the bed of the reservoir could be drained, and the large loss of water now occurring through transpiration avoided.

This plan would conserve more water and would cost much less than either the plan proposed for a dam at the lower end of the canyon, or an "Indian" dam with a broad base at the upper site.

A river bed or basin, has more the characteristics of an underground reservoir rather than an underground stream. The water does have a velocity, but it is usually so slow as to be inappreciable. It can be measured, however, and the quantity flowing in the underground channel determined. The small flow is usually quite small, and this accounts for the almost universal disappointment in submerged dams in not bringing a larger amount to the surface. However, large amounts can be pumped from the basin, and as the plane is lowered around a pumped area, the velocity is increased. It is evident that neither diversion nor pumping have materially affected the water plans above the Prado dam site, as the swamped area could not exist. Hence a dam at that site through which the normal flow was by passed, and the flood flow equalized, could only serve to increase the water supply below the dam.

Trusting that the foregoing may be of interest in a further study of the Santa Ana Canyon, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) C. R. OLBERG,
Assistant Chief Engineer of Indian Service.

It is my opinion, confirmed by Major Olberg, that, with a drainage system installed in the Prado Basin, designed to hold the water level eight feet below the surface, in conjunction with a dam at that location, additional water storage would be available in that eight feet of sand and gravel, following flood years. This additional water would be available for stream flow during the summer after the reservoir is empty. This feature appears to me worthy of consideration.

I believe the water rights of Orange county should be protected by the purchase of land in the Lower Chino Basin and also as much of the Santa Ana river channel as possible even including the Jurupa Rancho, which I know is for sale. It appears to me five million dollars could be better spent in this way than in building some of the smaller dams planned and the above plan could be completed in about three years instead of five years as would be required for the lower dam.

After Mr. Head replied to my article in the papers Co. Finley wrote me giving his views and with his permission I submit it for publication:

DEAR SIR: I was very much interested in reading your recent article in which you suggest a drainage system as a plan for preventing any possible danger from interference with the natural flow of the Santa Ana river by reason of the construction of the Prado dam.

I was particularly pleased with Mr. Head's reference to your plan in which he states, "It would be very much to the advantage of the water companies if the proposed dam be located at Prado, provided the dam would not cut off part of our water supply." That is exactly the position which I have taken on numerous occasions publicly and privately.

If Mr. Head expresses the views of the officials of the irrigation companies and I assume that he does, it seems to me that your and his statements open up a possible way to present a plan that would be approved with such unanimity that the criticism made by some, against any bond issue being approved by less than a two-thirds vote would never arise.

While I do not believe that any part of the water would be cut off, if by any chance it did the carrying out of your suggestion would certainly prevent it as it would keep the water at a lower level than it is now.

I have even gone further than your suggestion in expressing my desire to absolutely protect every right of the irrigation companies and others, as well as be shown by the following incident.

After my retirement from the Board of Supervisors and shortly prior to the filing of the engineer's report, upon invitation from Mr. Paul Bailey, I attended a conference with him and the Consulting Board of Engineers in his office. At that meeting I was told that there were objections made to the location of the dam at the upper site on the ground that it might interfere with the natural flow of the river to the detriment of the irrigators below. I was asked what I thought about it. My reply was practically as follows:

"I do not believe the fears would be realized, however there is no one willing to go further than I to provide assurance against any interference even to the extent of draining the reservoir and by passing the water through the dam at a lower elevation than it is now and if necessary establishing a pumping plant above the dam to deliver the water on the river surface below the dam if demanded. The cost of that proceeding would be very much less than the interest on the extra cost of a dam at the lower location."

Mr. Browning, you will readily recognize that 5 per cent interest on $5,000,000.00 the approximate extra cost of the lower dam would amount to $250,000.00 annually while by the greatest stretch of imagination the pumping cost, even if ever needed would not exceed $50,000.00 annually.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) S. H. FINLEY.

WARDWEAR TIRES

a 10,000-mile guaranteed
tire at the lowest price ever known!

THE Standard WARDWEAR - while it is our lowest priced tire - is made in the same factories, has the same fine design and carefully supervised construction, as our first-quality RIVERSIDE line.

We emphasize this fact because it is important. Too many motorists are today being confused with price-and-quality comparisons which are deceptive. Many manufacturers insist on calling "first-quality" what are actually their "second-line" tires - and suggesting that their prices are lower than Ward's by comparing them with the prices of Ward's first-quality lines!

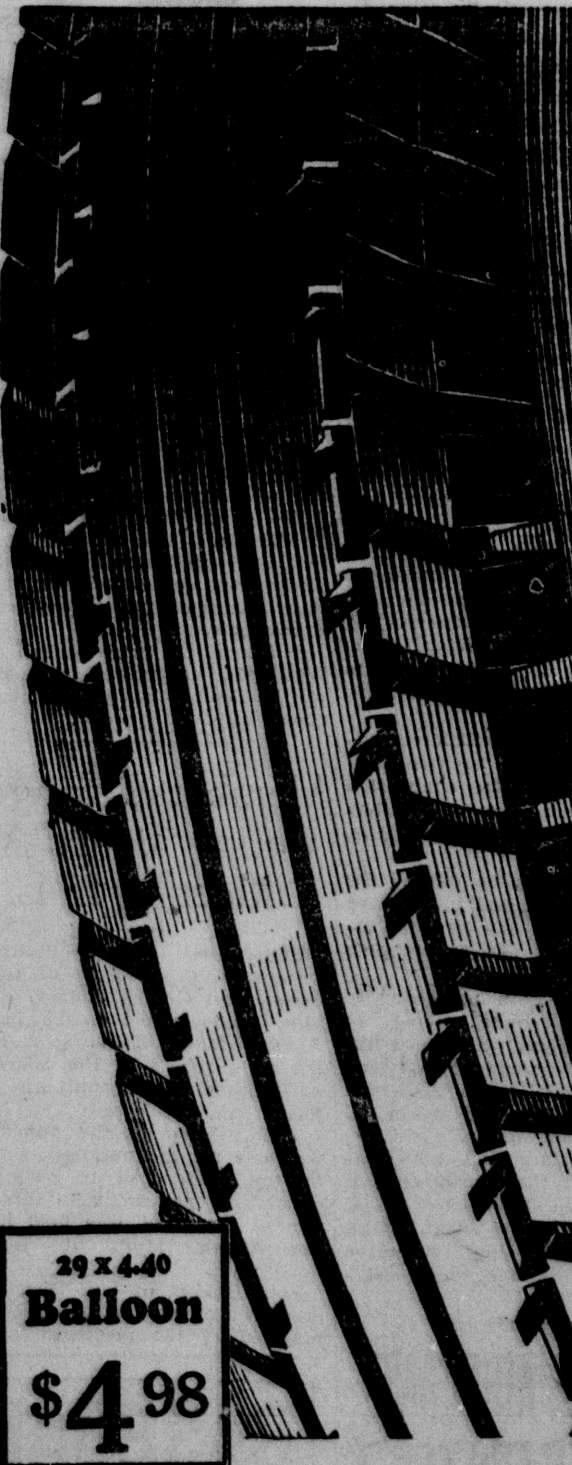

This sort of "tangled talk" should be straightened out. All such comparisons should in reality be made only between leading makers' second lines and the WARDWEAR. When they are, Ward's prices will always be found to be lower.

In buying your tires, therefore, don't be misled by off-hand "claims" of any kind. Insist on getting the FACTS. Do not be induced to pay first-quality prices for second-quality tires. Do not be satisfied by less than a definite, specific guarantee, backed by the manufacturer, for 10,000 miles of service. Do this, and you will reach but one conclusion: that WARDWEAR prices save you MORE, and WARDWEAR quality is guaranteed to serve you BETTER, than any other tires in their class!

Visit your nearest Ward Retail Store... examine these splendid-value tires for yourself. Tremendous sales volume, and distribution to the car-owner direct, explain why we can give you such remarkable guaranteed performance at such unusually low prices.

We carry all sizes of tires and tubes to fit all cars - at proportionate savings.

Newcom, who is proprietor of the feed and seed store at the corner of Fifth and Broadway, will become the owner of the building adjoining his business to the north, numbered 506-508, and the residential lots on Baker and Louise streets and Miss McNeal, who lives at 2004 North Baker street, becomes the owner of the 10-acre Valencia orange grove.

The deal was handled by J. W. Gill, of West Third street, who has been in business here for the last two years. The price at which the exchange was effected has not been announced.

The completion of the exchange will result in the ownership of the 500 block on North Broadway being divided equally between Newcom and Smith and Tuthill.

Only one overtime parking ticket showed up in city court yesterday. It was held by B. F. Tucker, who paid $2 for the privilege of getting rid of it.

GOES TO JAIL ON TRAFFIC CHARGES

Speeding at 50 miles an hour on West Seventeenth street, cutting in, failure to have his operator's license and dilatory tactics in making an appearance in court cost a Los Angeles real estate salesman a five-day jail sentence here yesterday.

A. A. Gerick, 39, of 133 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles, was given a ticket for the various traffic offenses stated above on June 6, but kept delaying his appearance in court until yesterday.

Gerick surrendered himself at the bastille shortly before 4 o'clock to begin serving his time.

G. P. FORESTER ANSWERS SUIT FOR BACK PAY

Did Dr. B. Lillian Smith, of 1535 North Main street, insert an agreement that she was to be paid $175 a month by G. B. Forester, of the same address, and be maintained as his assistant in all surgical cases in the hospital and physicians' office conducted by the two, over Dr. Forester's signature on a blank check with which she was supposed to pay some of his outstanding bills?

That is the claim made by Forester in answer to a suit filed recently by Dr. Smith to obtain back salary at the rate of $175 a month since July 9, 1928. In his answer, Forester admits that he and Dr. Smith agreed to purchase and remodel the property on North Main street into physicians' suites and a private hospital, but denies that he employed the latter to serve as assistant in his surgery and in obstetrical cases. He also denies having paid her $353 to apply on the indebtedness resulting from a salary which she claims to have been due since 1928.

Forester further charges Dr. Smith with having written in an agreement to such effect over his signature on a blank check which he had given her to pay some of his bills when she was attending to office matters for him.

The check was on the La Verne First National bank and Dr. Forester claims that after he signed the check for her, with the expectation that she was to use it as directed, she added the words which made it read, "The First National Bank and I agree to pay to Dr. B. L. Smith, $175 a month and rooms."

Smith, $175 a month and rooms. She is to assist me in all my surgery and obstetrical cases in Santa Ana. She is to have one month vacation a year on pay. Deferred payments are to draw seven per cent interest. Salary to begin July 9, 1928.

the Santa Ana property was an oral one, according to Forester, with the proviso that each was to equip his own office. She later sold her half interest in the project for $800, evidenced by a promissory note secured by a mortgage on real property at Corcoran, Calif., it is claimed. She then left for Seattle and upon her return, on July 26, 1928, repurchased the half interest and resumed the former agreement, for 500 shares of the capital stock of Santa Mona corporation, it is said.

Late in 1927, or early in 1928, Forester claims that she again withdrew from the agreement, transferring to him her share of the building for $600, for which amount she was credited on the purchase of two acres of orange grove near Anaheim, valued at $14,000.

His father had been in bed for four and one-half years with paralysis, but death came as a shock to many friends in Santa Ana.

Court Notes

Clemente Gaudan, who was charged with reckless driving changed his plea to guilty, yesterday, before Justice Kenneth Morrison, and was fined $100. He was committed to the county jail when he failed to pay the fine.

A sentence of 90 days in jail on a reckless driving count was suspended in the case of J. C. Collins, yesterday, by Judge Morrison, when the prisoner paid a fine of $250.

Through his attorneys, Head, Wellington, Jacobs and Scovel, James R. Leippe has brought suit for divorce on the grounds of desertion against Amelia Leippe who is represented by Franklin G. West. They were wedded in Petersburg, Va., July 1, 1914, and separated Nov. 15, 1916.

Instituting a cross suit to divorce proceedings filed by Robert A. Quall, of this city, Irene Gergen Quall, of Los Angeles, has through her attorney, entered a denial to the charge of desertion embodied in the initial suit and filed counter suit on the grounds of non-support. Quall is represented by Dr. W. Maxwell Burke. The couple married in San Bernardino on Dec. 3, 1926.

Judgment to the extent of $50 plus interest at seven per cent and the costs of the case, today was awarded Harold Finley in Judge Homer G. Ames' court where Finley had entered a cross complaint asking $50 for labor to the damage suit brought by W. L. Waters, of Fullerton, against Finley. In his suit Waters claimed that $1000 damages had been sustained by his citrus groves by reason of the tree roots having been exposed by Finley in cultivating operations on the land.

Summons has been issued to Maynard C. Thayer to department 3 of the superior court for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, to show cause why he should not pay costs and attorney fees in the divorce action between Myrtle H. Thayer, plaintiff, and Maynard C. Thayer, defendant, together with the maintenance of Mrs. Thayer and their minor child, while the divorce action is pending.

Three cases, brought today in Judge Allen's court of complaints on account and to foreclose mortgage, were dismissed. In each case the E. K. Wood Lumber company was plaintiff, represented by Culver and Nourse. The first was versus Harry D. Barr the second versus the First National Trust and Savings bank and the third versus Ott. In each case the defendant was represented by James L. Davis and Sharpless Walker.

In a cross complaint entered by Arley Elaine Coulter, defendant in a divorce suit brought by Estel V. Coulter, the former denies various allegations made by the plaintiff. She denies any cruelty or actions on her part that might have caused the extreme mental anguish cited by the plaintiff, also that she indulged in intoxicating liquors or sought attentions from men other than her husband. She also takes issue with the original complaint in the matter of their community property, which she asserts to be valued at $600 instead of the $400 cited by Coulter.

Following a divorce action instituted by Ruth M. Leeson against Hubert H. Leeson, the former has filed suit through her attorneys to cause the defendant to pay attorney's fees and all costs of the case.

Police News

Roy M. Roberts, who was held for investigation in connection with the murder of Roy Kirk, of Huntington Beach, was released by Orange county officers yesterday to deputies from Los Angeles county. Check of Roberts' story showed no basis for holding the man longer in connection with the murder case and he was released to face a charge of defrauding an inn keeper in the neighboring county.

Boys who were reported to be bothering a woman in the 800 block on North Artesia street, at 6:25 last night, disappeared before Officer H. Fink, who answered the call, arrived on the scene.

Pacific Electric trainmen reported to Officer T. H. Bond at 1:15 this morning that a door at the Whitson Lumber company was open as their train passed. Bond relayed the word to headquarters and Officer Harry Prichard and Merchant Patrolman Bert Dawson, with the assistance of Whitson, made a thorough check of the place. Nothing was missing.

The first criminal arrest to be made by the Santa Ana police department since August 1, was made at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Officer C. J. Roehm took William L. (Red) Nichols, 38, into custody on a charge of intoxication. Nichols, a mechanic, who lives at Fifteenth and Sycamore streets, has been in jail on similar charges several times.

The Laxative With Highest Endorsement

When you get out of bed feeling headachy, sluggish, weak, half-sick, here's a simple measure that will have you feeling yourself again in a jiffy.

Take a little Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water—or lemonade. Two to four table-spoonfuls is the usual adult dose. Taken in lemonade, Phillips Milk of Magnesia acts like citrate of magnesia. As an anti-acid to correct sour stomach, gas, indigestion, biliousness, it has been standard with doctors for over fifty years. To know its quick relief in digestive and eliminative troubles of men, women, children—and babies—is to keep a bottle always handy.

Full directions for all its uses come with every bottle. All drug stores have the generous 25c and 50c sizes.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

CHURCH ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY IN S. A.

Young people of Santa Ana are anticipating the program to be given in the First Methodist church, Friday night, by the Pacific Palisades orchestra, which is scheduled to appear in a concert in the church auditorium at 7:30 p. m. The concert will be presented under the auspices of the Young People's Epworth league and has been planned with a view to appreciation of cultured entertainment, according to George Warner Jr., president of the league.

The Rev. H. Donald Clary, of Cucamonga, who is acting as assistant pastor of the church during the absence of James H. Hughes, and as director of young people's work, has been largely influential in this latest activity of the Epworth league.

BRITAIN'S OLDEST PASTOR
LONDON, Aug. 8 (U. P.)—The Rev. Denham Rowe Norman, who has just celebrated his 101st birthday, is believed to be the oldest person in England. He was ordained in 1855, and retired from active service four years ago.

previously, according to jail officials.

State Traffic Officer Dan Adams arrested W. T. Noid, 38, salesman, of 3332 Forty-fifth street, San Diego, last night, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Three men, who were taken into custody by Anaheim police on Lincoln boulevard, last night, were brought to the county jail by Deputy Sheriffs Fred Humiston and A. L. Steward. One of the trio, Harry Selland, 43, a salesman, who lives at 2215 Oak street, Compton, was hooked on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The other two, Long Beach painters, A. A. Wick and John B. Franklin, were charged with intoxication.

Lillian Hammond, 39, a trained nurse, of La Habra, was booked in the county jail at 11:50 last night on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. The prisoner was brought in by Chief Williams, of Brea, who was assisted by Officer Lusinker and Grace L. May. Jail officials report that the prisoner was in a combative mood and got in several good swings at the Brea officers while being booked in the jail.

HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 10.—The Harvester class of the Methodist church elected officers at the monthly meeting held last night in the church parlors. A banquet was served and there was an enjoyable social and business session. Miss Hazel Spencer rendered piano selections, Miss Spencer is the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Barnhart at the church parsonage.

The following officers were elected: William Chapman, president; Mrs. Mildred Ridenour, first vice president; Mrs. Pearl Ewing, secretary; Alphon Riley, treasurer. The Harvesters will hold a steak bake at the beach for the September social event of the class.

BEGGARS UNIONIZED
TOKIO, Aug. 8.—The grand old art of begging has been unionized in this city and the boys only work three hours a day now. Increased competition is given for this getting together and city-wide laws compel the gentry to knock off after three hours. If caught working longer than the set time, a beggar forfeits his days earnings to the co-workers catching him cheating. A guild enacts and enforces laws.

There are two kinds of people the devil most assails—One is the man who prospers, the other he who falls. But even at that, I'd like to go on record and say that you can't get something for nothing unless someone dies and leaves it to you. You won't get it from a good watchmaker. He doesn't have to give it to you and a poor one hasn't it to deliver.

English to Adopt One-Color Station

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(UP)—It is the government's policy to adopt the recommendations of the special committee of the home secretary's office, Great Britain soon will be rid of hideous, many colored gas filling stations.

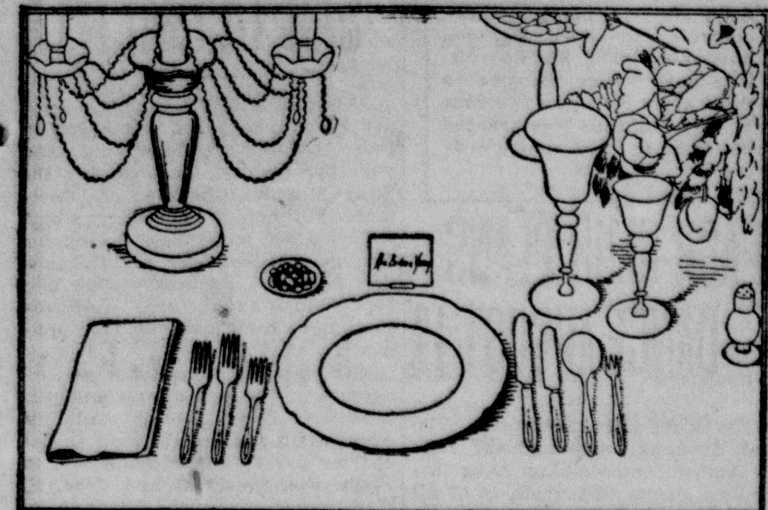

In order to safeguard the scenery of the countryside, the committee has proposed that all stations may be painted only in one color, that flashing electric signs be prohibited, that advertising lettering be made smaller, and that corrugated or galvanized iron be forbidden for roof construction.

The committee is also seeking a "standard" advertising sign for use along the roadside, eliminating the hideous variegated billboards now employed.

Rent that vacant house, flat, room or garage through a Register classified ad. The cost is small. Phone 87 or 88.

PROGRESS ON FAIR PLANS IS TOLD TO BOARD

Directors of the Orange County fair held a busy session last night at the fair grounds but, although a number of important matters were discussed, the majority still are pending. Reports of department heads included one from Mrs. J. V. Kelsey to the effect that the historical department exhibit is growing beyond all expectations. The workers in charge have succeeded in bringing to light a surprising number of articles of historical interest both of a general and county nature.

Roy Arnold, who will put on the rodeo this year, reported that two car loads of wild horses from Montana will arrive at the fair grounds next week, be placed in corrals and given an abundance of feed in order that they might have an extra supply of pep for the broncho busters to tackle. Arnold also announced that he had arranged with the "New Idea Man" of radio station K P L A to announce the rodeo and fair every morning until September 2. In this connection it might be stated that the publicity department has secured from the Motor Transit company a two-hour free fair program to be broadcast from 8 to 10 p. m., Sunday, August 25, with Mrs. J. V. Kelsey in charge, over the Motor Transit station K P L A.

S. W. Stanley told of the preliminary sale of family tickets, being conducted by the auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans. Attention was called to the fact that August 25 is the deadline for the purchase of these tickets.

The fair management decided to conduct the dining room, with Mrs. Harry Lewis, of Garden Grove, as manager. Mrs. Lewis is treasurer of the Women's club in Garden Grove, and has had charge of the county fair dining room for several years.

George T. Kellogg announced that he had conferred with city councils of several Orange county cities and obtained promises to the effect that their cities would be decorated before and during fair week. In addition to this form of publicity, 1000 auto bumper signs have been received and an equal number of three-sheet posters will be placed over the county.

The fair board expressed gratitude to the county papers for the hearty co-operation being given in publicity matters.

Charles Van Wyck, in charge of the Junior fair, stated that the department's plans are progressing rapidly and that his department will be exceptionally large this year. He also reported on Legion day, which has been set for Sunday, September 1. Arrangements are being made to secure the glee club of the Santa Ana Legion auxiliary for the afternoon program. The drum corps contests, in the arena, will be featured on the night of September 1.

Relief From Curse Of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose. Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. Mather's Drug Store.—Adv.

DELAY TRIAL OF AGED CHINESE ON DOPE COUNT

Henry Kom, or Wong Kom as he is known to some of his Chinese friends in Anaheim, was supposed to come from his present quarters in the Orange County hospital, at 9:30 this morning to appear in Judge Allen's court on a charge of possessing 10 toys of opium.

But Wong's attorney came down from Los Angeles today to conduct his defense and was accompanied by an interpreter, a dapper, meticulously groomed Chinese, with imperturbable countenance that the Occidental mind always associates with the Oriental. The case was postponed, however, until Friday, August 16, when it will be taken up at 1:30 p. m. And in the meantime Wong remains in the county hospital, where his age and frail condition require constant medical care and nursing.

The felony charges against the old Chinese assert that he was discovered with a "preparation of opium containing more than two grains of opium to the avoidropulous ounce." With the drug were pipes, scales and other equipment for smoking. It is claimed.

After Wong was taken in custody, he was removed to the hospital for fear he would not survive incarceration in jail. He denied that he had patrons who came to him to smoke the opium and pleaded with the men making the arrest to allow him to pay a fine and go free. He asked if he might not pay a $150 fine and later, when his poverty stricken little home in Anaheim was searched by the authorities, that sum of money was discovered, secreted in an old sock.

Laguna Council Adopts Bathing Suit Ordinance

VALUATION OF PROPERTY SET AT $3,055,275

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 8.—The local fire department and the chamber of commerce will entertain the firemen with a boat ride around the bay, pointing out the principal features of the harbor and city.

The firemen are holding their state convention in Fullerton and the trip to the beach will be the concluding event.

The bathing suit ordinance grew out of the arrests of several alleged violators of the state indecent exposure law. The ordinance was passed by the city council last night. The ordinance sets the tax rate for the coming year, setting the election for August 27 for bonding the city on five propositions and one authorizing the employment of employees in the sanitary department and setting their salaries were read or adopted. The city also learned of its ownership of a valuable strip of land on Coast boulevard, and the fire department transferred its property to the city.

The assessed valuation of property within the city is set at $3,055,275 and at the fixed rate of $1 per $100 will yield $30,552 with which to operate the city during the coming year.

A petition asking that Forest avenue not be renamed and a like one asking that Legion street remain Legion street were filed. Mayor Champlin explained in answer to a question that the council would consider the street naming matter at its next meeting.

The realty board's request for an extension of time before the subdivision ordinance is given final reading was granted, the time set for September 4. City Engineer A. J. Stead told the council that a strip of land about 40 feet long and 12 feet in width at the widest point, tapering to a point at each end, is city property. It is located on Coast boulevard on the south side and lies in front of a lot belonging to the Hollingsworth company. The council decided to retain it for street purposes.

The date set for the hearing of the petitions dealing with the proposed new telephone system, which was sponsored by the local chamber of commerce, was mentioned for September 27 at Huntington Beach. Representatives of the local chamber will attend.

The chamber of commerce is financing the putting up of street signs. The posts have been painted white and will be lettered at once. Names of the streets conform to names appearing on county maps.

ANTAR DERAGA GIVES DETAILS OF PLANE WORK

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 8.—Rapid strides are being made in the development of passenger ships of the air, according to Antar Deraga, who is spending a couple of days vacation with his wife at Corona del Mar.

Deraga was formerly aeronautical weather observer at the local weather station on Newport bay and for the past five months has been connected with the Transcontinental Air Transport company, with headquarters in St. Louis. A recent promotion has placed him in charge of all weather recording equipment for the company which covers practically the whole of the United States. His duties in establishing new stations and instructing the observers, together with his inspection trips, have taken him over 28,000 miles of air travel in the last three months.

The next assignment will be to install stations on the new route about to be opened up between New York and Miami, Florida. This line will later be extended to Havana, Cuba, and on south through Rio Janeiro, to Buenos Ayres.

"This line is the best organizing in the world and is now giving 48-hour service between Los Angeles and New York," Deraga said. "The last of the more night cruises, this time will be cut to 36 hours."

"The so-called night cruises already on the run are Curtis bi-planes, and will accommodate 20 passengers with berths. All planes of this type are equipped with radio, teletype, and orders for meals are taken and telegraphed ahead to the next stop, where the hot meal is served in the ship and eaten at leisure."

"Each ship carries a pilot, a relief pilot and a steward and the comfort of the travelers is amply cared for. One of the drawbacks to air travel is air-sickness. This is very like sea sickness and the usual receipts are furnished."

REALTY BOARD FAILS TO ACT ON L. B. SURVEY

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 8.—Despite previous action on two occasions on the proposed city survey as contained in the first proposition to be submitted to the voters August 27, the Realty board is still far from being of a single idea as to its desirability. This was brought out at the board's meeting Tuesday, when the body was divided almost evenly in its sentiments as expressed.

New street names received approval when Dr. Frances E. Callister briefly recited the work done by the committee of which she is a member. The proposed city ordinance which would place restrictions on the manner in which land may be subdivided was also before the board, for the second time, and again without unanimity of opinion.

On the other side of the argument, C. Hartwell Smith, secretary of the board, admitted that there might be an apparent injustice, but told of the value of assisting in the upbuilding of the residential district and of the necessity of building this up to make business property increase in value. He told his hearers that in this effort to build up the city they were making a good investment and that the cost was comparatively small. He thought that the benefits would greatly outweigh the disadvantages or the asserted injustice.

Andrew S. Hall, admitted to the board at the meeting, warmly commended the position of Mr. Smith.

Perry McCullough pointed to the condition in various sections of the city where it was impossible to ascertain grades and center lines and urged favorable action. He said that because of absentee ownership it was impossible to form improvement districts in many instances and that the only recourse was to have the city vote funds for the work.

Men Are Thrilled

To Hold Velvety Soft, Smooth Hands

Girls—there's no getting away from it—every man admires an exquisitely smooth, beautifully textured hand. They like to hold an invitingly soft, velvety hand just as a red, coarse, rough-skinned hand is repellant to them.

If you'd like to be able to immediately beautify your hands whenever you'd like to have them exceptionally nice, if you want to have marvelous hand beauty every day in the year—get a 75c tube of Howard's Butter Milk Cream at any drugstore.

Howard's contains real buttermilk (famous for centuries as one of the world's greatest beautifiers) plus a number of other skin-nourishing, beauty-enhancing ingredients. Howard's amazingly smooths and softens coarsest skin, banishing freckles and whitening skin. Apply at bedtime or before going out (housewives use it 2 or 3 times a day as a perfect safeguard against red, dry and chapped skin) and everywhere you go you'll invite admiration because of your well-groomed, youthful and charming hands.—Adv.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 8.—The Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Weld and family returned Friday from a vacation which they spent at Tulare with relatives and at Santa Rosa where they attended Synod of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Weld and the daughters were away several weeks and Mr. Weld for 10 days.

The Rev. W. T. Wardle, of Los Angeles, who for many years was pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, occupied the pulpit of the local church at the morning services Sunday and was welcomed back by many of his old friends.

Mrs. Bertie Lesler Ball, of Downey, was a visitor at the Sunday morning services at the local church. Mrs. Ball is a native of Westminster, her family, the Leslers having been residents here in early days when they were owners of what is now the Southern Pacific railroad's house, occupied by Harry Curtis and family.

Miss Virginia Anderson motored to Los Angeles Saturday evening with her grandmother, Mrs. C. Phillips, and aunt, Miss Elizabeth Phillips, of Santa Ana, as Miss Phillips was leaving the city that night for San Francisco. Miss Anderson returned to Santa Ana for the night and Sunday brought her grandmother home with her for the day and on Monday took her to San Gabriel to remain with her daughter, Mrs. Helen Dodge, for a few days.

Joe and Edward Phillips, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Phillips, of Monterey Park, who have been spending a week as guests of Charles Anderson, returned to their home Monday.

Mrs. Addie L. Blakey entertained as guests over Saturday night and Sunday her nephew, Arthur Vesale and wife and son and daughter, Carl and Miss India Vesale, of Santa Paula, and the wife of another nephew, Edgar Vesale, and her son, Harrison Vesale, of Chandler, Ariz., who are spending a few weeks with relatives in this state.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Penhall and sons, accompanied by Mrs. Penhall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walton, motored to Oxnard Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells McCoy and family, who have been at their mountain cabin at Cedar Pines the past two weeks, returned home the last of the week.

FRESHMAN TO BECOME EARL COMPANY SOON

In order to ally its product more closely with Clarence A. Earl, now president, executives of the Charles Freshman company have recommended that the name of the Freshman company be changed to the Earl Radio corporation.

Stockholders will vote on the proposal in the near future. Earl, former automobile manufacturer, has applied straight line production methods with their greater efficiency to the radio industry.

Earl started his business career with the hardware firm of Russell & Irwin and arose from office boy to vice president and general manager. In 1915 he became vice president and director of the Willys Overland company, where for six years he was in charge of production. In 1928 he assumed the presidency of the Charles Freshman company and has succeeded in reorganizing that corporation until it now holds a commanding position in the radio manufacturing field.

The Freshman company, under Earl's management, has made remarkable progress during the last six months and indications are that its present record volume of business will continue well into next year.

FRENCH CHOOSE NORDIC BLONDE OVER BRUNETTE

By RICHARD D. M'ILLAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Aug. 8.—(UP)—A change is overcoming the feminine face of Paris since the French capital has experienced a decided invasion of blondes.

The typical Parisian woman is definitely Latin in type, but since the World war and the rush of visitors to France from Nordic countries which has occurred during the past few years fair-haired women have become more and more prominent in the life of the capital.

Among mannikins in the fashionable houses of the Rue de la Paix and even in the lesser renowned countries in Montmartre fair-haired women are becoming increasingly popular. Thus girls from Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Germany and Alsace-Lorraine who come to Paris partly with the idea of seeking adventure, partly to earn a living find it easier to get jobs than at any other time before.

Among dance instructresses in the fashionable night clubs, among entertainers in the high-class supper cabarets and restaurants blonde women now generally predominate and, where contrast is sought, the effect is usually secured with American women creoles, who are able to supply the pep in song which the Nordics lack.

Nordic Cabaret Girls

Registrations of Nordic women employed in luxury trades in the French capital have shown a big jump. Their presence undoubtedly adds variety and color to the Paris scene, which for long years was dominated by brunets.

As reception clerks in the hotels, as "vendeuses"—or saleswomen—as clerks in tourist and other offices the blonde girl has been gradually coming into their own in France. A certain fashionable night cabaret which claims to give the most diverse entertainment of any night resort in the world has changed its policy regarding its women entertainers, all of whom are now fair haired.

The skating act—one specially manufactured ice—is given by a troupe of fair haired Finnish and Russian girls, the women's gypsy band is composed of blonde gypsies; while the bathing belles, who disport themselves nightly under gaily colored lights in a Pompeian bath pool, are nearly all Scandinavians.

Many American firms established in Paris likewise employ girls of Northern races for specialized work in canvassing where knowledge of several languages is necessary. These firms state that they find girls from the north, particularly Scandinavia, usually speak English more perfectly than any other women of any other race and, since they are usually able to talk German and French in addition, they are ideal for the job.

RADIO PLAYS DOCTOR

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(UP)—A dramatic story of how wireless played the major part in the treatment of a fractured elbow and a poisoned wound was recently told by radio authorities here. G. Hudson, wireless operator at Hope's Advance, was visited by an injured fur trader. He wirelessed Ottawa and the operator there secured medical advice and radioed it back to Hudson who treated the trader.

SHORT AND SOUR

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 8.—Charging desertion and cruelty, Margarita Cabral, Mexican, asked for divorce from his bride of two weeks, Olympia Cabral. He stated that he had repeatedly asked his wife to return to his home, but that she had refused. The pair were married on June 27, 1922, and separated on July 15 of the same year.

WILL BIDDIE, STIMULATED BY SOOTING RADIO MUSIC, LAY MORE, BETTER EGGS?

(By NEA Service)
CINCINNATI, July 25.—Will a hen, subjected to the stimulus of classical music as played by one of America's great symphony orchestras and broadcast by the radio, lay more eggs?

Maybe, says Dr. Charles M. Diserens, assistant professor of psychology in the College of Liberal Arts, University of Cincinnati.

His researches in the influence of music on human and animal behavior prove to his satisfaction that certain of higher animals show a definite response to music.

"You ask me whether animals respond to music in the same manner as do human beings?" Dr. Diserens says. "I believe they often do, at least the higher animals, if we compare their responses not with those of highly-trained musicians or musical critics but with the vast majority of men and women who respond primarily with their bodies, that is to say, emotionally.

"Cats, dogs and elephants doubtless experience emotions upon hearing music, just as children and savages do. Most of us have noted the fact in the case of cats and dogs. An old naturalist tells of a concert given to a group of elephants which produced astonishing results.

"An American naturalist tells of experiments in the

New York Zoo, where leopards, jaguars, coyotes and monkeys were calmed or excited by popular airs, females proving more susceptible to music than males.

"The physiologists have demonstrated muscular and circulatory changes in animals listening to music. It is probable that the more closely the nervous system of an animal approaches that of man, the more nearly do its reactions approximate those of natural human beings in the presence of music."

Officer Designs Small Receiver To Report Crime

his work on the new set, however, until he is ready to offer Commissioner Rutledge one that will be clearer, louder and less troublesome than the present receiver.

How Radio Speeds Help

He is particularly interested in the individual receiver for the policeman on his beat.

"Suppose a policeman on his beat were caught in a fight with some gangsters. A citizen sees it and calls up police headquarters. The report is put on the air, on a special low wave to which all sets of the police force are tuned.

"There are four policemen walking beats that surround the district of the officer in trouble. They converge toward him as soon as they get the report, and there's little chance of the criminals to escape. Besides the cruiser of that district and the one in the next district can be coming in toward the same spot, cutting off all openings to freedom for the criminals.

"Heretofore, the only way a police officer could get into touch with his station, or the station with him, was by the telephone system and later the flash system. If he happened to be out of sight of the flashing light, there would be a delay until he got there.

"With the radio set in his vest, he is always in touch with police headquarters. He can keep the earpiece also in his vest, until he feels a buzz through it and then puts it to his ear. Or he can have it always in his ear. It's little bother, and the additional four pounds of the set adds little to his outfit."

Jumps Out Roof As Train Hits Car

STRATFORD, Cal., Aug. 8.—(UP)—Sam Rockwell, grain rancher near here, while crossing the railroad found a new way of leaving his car.

Rockwell left through the roof. The abandoned car turned over three times before it came to a complete halt. Rockwell was knocked unconscious, but recovered. Observers said he was traveling at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred.

Three Reasons Why We Are Able to Make This Unusual Offer

1. BECAUSE, unlike most Radio dealers, we do not turn our contracts over to a finance company, who demand high interest and from 25 to 30 per cent down.
2. BECAUSE, we sell only Standard, Nationally Known Merchandise, of undisputed dependability. Priced right. Giving the customer lasting satisfaction at all times.
3. BECAUSE, there are hundreds of families in Santa Ana, who heretofore, due to the high down payment and carrying charges necessary to the Finance Companies, have been unable to purchase a radio. Under our easy terms greater sales will result with a consequent lowering of overhead and carrying charges.

DEMPSEY MAY BOX MAX AT CALIENTE All-Stars In Easy Win Over Anaheim Club

YES, YOU NEVER CAN TELL

One of the old bromides that has been handed down from father to son is that you never can tell what will happen in baseball. One of the presidents of the National League coined the phrase and it has become a legend. And true.

Last spring in San Antonio John McGraw was explaining how he had improved his New York Giants for the approaching pennant race.

He said his outfield had been improved vastly and he spoke in glowing terms of Tony Kaufman, the former Chicago pitcher.

"I signed Kaufman for his hitting. He also is a fine fielder. He will be of more value to us than Leslie Mann was last year. At the present time I plan to alternate him regularly in the outfield," he said.

"But, you never can tell."

TONY HITTING NOTHIN'
Up to the first of August Kaufman had failed to get his first hit and he had been at the bat 25 times. Giant outfield was crippled and McGraw had to stick him in as a regular and a fellow who can't get a hit in half a season is not much value in the outfield. Or elsewhere.

EVEN THE GREAT STUMBLE
McGraw also was supremely confident that Larry Benton would have another good season.

"Don't the averages show that a pitcher seldom has two great seasons in succession?" we asked the Giant leader in San Antonio.

"Yes," he answered, "the averages do indicate that a pitcher seldom has two great seasons in succession. But not a great pitcher. The great pitchers go along at about the same gait. Benton is a great pitcher. I'm sure he will do as well this year. Perhaps better. Because we will have more defense in the outfield."

VICTIM OF UNCERTAINTY
The same uncertainty exists in other lines of sport. Mack Garner will attest to it.

Garner, one of the leading jockeys, rode Blue Larkspur in all his races. He figured that he had a life job handling the horse that stands a good chance to become the biggest money winner of the American turf.

Colonel E. R. Bradley, the immensely wealthy owner of the colt, is a generous employer. He pays well and he gives his jockeys a big cut of the future wins.

On the strength of future cuts of the colt's earnings and his salary, Garner bought a palatial home and provided his family with numerous luxuries.

Then all of a sudden it was made known that he would not have the leg up on the colt in the future and that Johnny Malben would be the rider.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
James Rowe, who has handled all the Harry Payne Whitney horses for years and who was the dean of all the trainers, died a few days ago. . . . And Chick Lang, who rode Reigh Count in most of his great races, may have to quit. . . . Because he can't make the weight any more. . . . Herbert Bayard Swope, former champion newspaper editor of New York, is acquiring a racing stable. . . . Art Shires, who wears the biggest chaw of tobacco in baseball, never chaws off the ball field. . . . "It's a filthy habit to chaw off the ball field," he says; "I chaw on the field just to have something to spit in my glove." . . . New York betting commissioners have 10 grand to bet against two grand that the Athletics will win the American league pennant.

FLOOD ANAHEIM FIELD WITH 17 HITS, 13 RUNS

Scoring 10 runs in the last five innings, the Santa Ana All-Stars, dressed in their best batting clothes, ran completely away from the Anaheim team, at Anaheim, last night, winning the one-sided contest, 13 to 5.

The game was so unlike a Santa Ana-Anaheim game, that it was hard to believe these two teams were on the field. They have met three times before this year and a one run margin was all one could get on the other.

The tilt was an exhibition affair, played for the entertainment of the California Firemen's Association, which is holding its annual convention in Fullerton.

Flooding the park with base knocks that reached every section of the field, the All-Stars got next to H. Bushman and his successor, Moody, for 17 safeties, 14 of which came in the last five innings with the 10 runs.

The feature of the game was a sensational catch by Wayne Nelson in the sixth inning when he ran back, face to the fence, to snag over his shoulder a long drive by Bushman that was labelled "home run."

At the bat, Koral accounted for a home run, a two base hit and a single in four trips.

COFFMAN BOXES FOR TONIGHT
Fred Coffman, coming young Santa Ana welterweight, goes against Lon Little, in a four-round battle at the Pico Athletic club tonight.

The young Santa Ana amateur, believed by many to be one of the outstanding finds in this part of the country in a number of years, is being nursed along carefully by his manager, Billie Wood, who is making all kinds of predictions concerning Coffman.

Coffman stopped Phil Rios at Pico last week and did it in such a convincing manner that fans at the amateur stadium are already hailing him as a favorite.

Seals, Missions Continue Fight In Pennant Race
It was off again, on again, for the San Francisco Seals, fighting a nip and tuck battle with the Mission Reds for first place honors, and today they again top the percentage column through a 7 to 4 victory. It was very much of a pitcher's battle, with the youthful Vernon Gomez of the Seals outlasting the veteran Dutch Ruether.

Los Angeles crept within half a game of Hollywood for third place honors by winning the second game of the week, 3 to 2, from the Stars, making it two in a row.

Oakland also made it two straight with a 7 to 9 victory over the cellarite Seattle Indians, who have lost 39 of 38 games played. The teams will stage a doubleheader today on the Oakland lot.

Portland evened the series with Sacramento, winning 6 to 5. The game was all Portland until the seventh, when Chesterfield gave way for Ortnan after a four-run rally by the Senators in which Kuehler homed. Today's game between the Ducks and the Senators will be played at Stockton.

JIMMIE DUFFY BEATEN
OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 8.—(UP)—Young Jack Thompson, Negro welterweight, took a close 10-round decision from Jimmy Duffy, Oakland idol, in the main event here last night. The decision by Referee Wagner brought boos from the crowd, but Thompson was the stronger at the bell and entitled to the verdict. Duffy hit the canvas in the third for a count of three.

Lutz Beats Malcewicz In Comeback

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—(UP)—Nick Lutz, heavyweight wrestler, avenged himself for two previous defeats when he won over Joe Malcewicz at the Olympic auditorium last night, after Malcewicz had taken the first fall in 18 minutes, 17 seconds.

Lutz and Malcewicz, weighting 198 pounds and in beautiful trim, put on a clean, fine battle. The little Pole took the first fall with a backward body slam that left Nick Grozgy.

Coming back strong Lutz waved Malcewicz around in the air and slammed him on the mat three times, then threw him over his head and fell on him to take the second fall in 17 minutes, 2 seconds.

The second fall hurt Malcewicz and injured his left arm. Nick clamped a jackknife scissors on the wounded member and took the last fall in 2 minutes, 59 seconds.

George Kotsanarides and Dick Davis court pulled and slugged for an hour to a draw.

PICK U. S. TEAM TO WIN FOREST HILLS TOURNEY
BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(UP)—The United States should regain the Wightman cup from England in the international women's tennis series at Forest Hills tomorrow and Saturday.

Seven matches will be played—two singles and one doubles tomorrow and three singles and one doubles Saturday—with four victories necessary to decide the winning team.

California's two famous Helens—Miss Mills and Miss Jacobs—should give the United States the necessary four victories in their singles matches.

Miss Mills is considered invincible and the odds are against her even losing a set in her two singles engagements. Miss Jacobs' great play in the Wimbledon championships in which she advanced to the final only to lose to Miss Wills encourages the belief that she will prove capable of winning her two singles matches.

The official lineups of the two teams follow:
Singles: England—Helen Jacobs; United States—Betty Nuthall.
Doubles: England—Mrs. Michael Watson; United States—Mrs. L. R. C. Michell.

1—Helen Jacobs vs. Betty Nuthall
2—Helen Watson vs. Mrs. Michael Watson
3—Edith Cross vs. Mrs. L. R. C. Michell

1—Miss Wills and Miss Cross vs. Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Michell
2—Miss Cross and Mrs. Hazel vs. Mrs. B. C. Covell and Hotchkiss Wightman
3—Shepherd-Barron vs. Unless the English doubles team are vastly over-rated or hit a clump at Forest Hills, the invaders should annex both doubles matches.

The two No. 2 players, Edith Cross of San Francisco and Mrs. Michell is considered a toss-up.

If Miss Jacobs should fail to win both of her singles matches, it is quite possible that this match may settle the outcome of the series.

CHOCOLATE KNOCKS OUT TONY LORENZO
MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Kid Chocolate, Cuban featherweight, 123 1-2, knocked out Tommy Lorenzo, New York, 124, in the sixth round here last night.

Kauffman, Dark Horses Leading St. Louis Play
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 8.—Following a day of upsets and one that prolonged uncertainty, Carl Kauffman, Pittsburgh, defending champion, and two dark horses, Milton Sencrantz, Toledo and Patsy Tiso, New York, looked best of the 32 contenders who took off today for the first round of match play in the National Public Links Golf tournament.

The three favorites were tied for medalist honors at 151 in the two days of elimination play. Like-wise eight players tied at 160 were forced to play a 19th hole late yesterday afternoon to select three bottom qualifiers.

WILMINGTON, Calif., Aug. 8.—(UP)—Tommy Elks took an eight-round decision from Bobby La Salle in the main event of a boxing card here last night. Charlie Ramer beat Fra Ike Burns in a six-round semi-windup.

FIGHT GAME IN SANTA ANA ON UPWARD TREND AS FOUST LEARNS TRICKS OF TRADE

Col. Henry Foust's dream of making Santa Ana a boxing mecca seems, at last, to be coming true. Adversity has ruled at the Orange County Athletic club since its opening here last year and throughout most of the time Col. Henry has had to stand loss after loss.

New in the fight racket, there were many things to know, edges to be knocked off and dull surfaces polished. It has taken experience to put Santa Ana on the map in the fight world and with this experience, Foust bids fair to succeed.

The first real indication that the boxing game in Santa Ana would be a success came Tuesday night. The house was packed, the first time it has been since

Col. Henry took over the reins as manager and match-maker. Col. Henry has learned that folks don't go to prize fights just because there are prize fights to go to. He has learned that a prize fight is not a fight at all, from the fans standpoint, unless the boys in the ring are evenly matched, and there is nothing that will keep a fan away quicker than to be shown a series of poor shows. This has happened in the O. C. A. club, but probably will never happen again.

The gate Tuesday night was a surprise in a way. True the card was probably a better one than Foust has exhibited for some time, but it was not alone the card that drew a packed house. It was the turn in affairs, the "break" that Col. Foust has been waiting for, and with this break, boxing in Santa Ana should mount steadily upward in the future.

Col. Foust deserves a lot of credit. He's pulled the thing out of the fire, saved it when it certainly was on the downward grade. His frankness in business affairs, his belief too strongly in the other fellow may have hurt him a great deal in the past year, but he's learned his lesson and seems now ready to reap his harvest.

Local fighters are the secret of success in Santa Ana boxing. Whether they be Mexicans or Americans, they have their following here, and it will be many more moons before Foust will be k. another card without these gate stuffers, if he's smart—and he is.

A final inning rally that counted four runs fell one short for the Smart and Final team in the Santa Ana Twilight league, and the Shell Oil company won another game, 5 to 4, yesterday afternoon.

The win keeps the Shell team firmly entrenched in first place in the league's standing. The game was a dead fought one from the start, neither team scoring until the fifth inning when a couple of doubles and two walks gave the Oilers two runs. They counted two more in the sixth when two more men walked and two hits were made.

MATCH RIVERS. CHARLIE COBB HERE TUESDAY

Santa Ana fight fans who saw Charlie Cobb, San Diego welter, battle his way to an easy victory over Jesse Ayala at the Orange County Athletic club, last Tuesday night, will see the same star in action against Jimmy Rivers here next Tuesday, Col. Henry Foust announced today.

Cobb hit Ayala with everything—everything. He showed more class than any welterweight who has been in the ring here in several months, not excluding Rivers and Cavez and some of the other better boys, and if he can duplicate next week, he probably will take Rivers.

The San Diego boy comes here with a record of only one defeat in the past 25 fights.

In the semi-windup, Foust has Joe Reese, flashy Santa Ana boy pitted against Joe Contreras, also of San Diego. Contreras is a main eventer in the southern city and a stable mate of Cobb.

Louise Medina will fight Raymond Butler in the special event of six rounds, and in the two four round bouts, Louis Echeveste will box Howard Carr and Billie Cain will take on Ned Herman.

ONE HIT GAME LOST BY OCHOA TO SPORTSMEN

"Zuse" Ochoa, ace twirler for the Kinslow Machine Shops, in the Santa Ana night league, experienced last night, what all good pitchers must experience at some time or another. He saw his team defeated, 3 to 2, by the Hawley Sporting Goods team after he had allowed the Hawleys only one hit, and that after two men were away.

The defeat puts the machinists completely out of the running for the flag of the second section of the split season and at the same time, gives Hawleys an outside chance to win, should the Tiersan team blow up.

Hawleys made their three scores in the ninth inning, a wild pitch, a base on balls and three errors accounting for the tallies. Kinslows scored a run in the second inning and one in the seventh.

GARDEN TAKES ON LOUGHRAN-SHARKEY FIGHT

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Max Schmeling, stormy petrel of pugilism, has been turned loose by Madison Square Garden, the corporation which had planned to match him with Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Instead of Schmeling, the next opponent of the Lithuanian will be Tommy Loughran, present 175-pound titleholder, who will meet Sharkey in a 15-round bout at Yankee Stadium, September 26.

The reason for the Garden's action in abandoning Schmeling was that Max and his manager, Joe Jacobs, are flitting with an offer of $135,000 for the German to fight Jack Dempsey at Agua Caliente on Thanksgiving day.

Several long distance telephone conversations with Jacobs, who is with Schmeling in Spokane, around W. F. Carey, president of the Garden, to realization that the German and his manager were not so anxious to go through with the Sharkey match as they had indicated earlier in the negotiations.

It is not putting it too strongly to say that Carey, who had been ready to defy the New York commission and hold a Sharkey-Schmeling bout in Detroit, was horrified by the discovery that Max and his manager were considering backing out of their agreement.

Jacobs informed Carey of the Dempsey offer.

"That ought to let you out of your difficulties with the New York commission," he volunteered with that disarming naïveté characteristic of this particular breed of fight manager.

"Never mind our difficulties with the commission. That is our affair," stormed Carey. "Are you going through with this match with Sharkey, or not?"

"I'll have to ask Max," retorted Jacobs, sweetly. "Why, he may go back to Germany and not fight anyone."

"He may go somewhere else," suggested Carey, reaching for another telephone. On which he summoned Tommy Loughran to New York. The light heavyweight champion, "pinching myself to be sure I was awake," as he put it, gleefully signed to fight Sharkey. The Boston heavyweight also gave prompt approval to the switch in the plans.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 8.—Abandoned by Madison Square Garden Joe Jacobs said today he would claim the heavyweight championship for Max Schmeling.

one of the principals unless Carey personally handles a bout at Detroit.

The possibility of W. F. Carey handling a Schmeling bout in Detroit for Madison Square Garden ended with Carey's announcement in New York that he had matched Jack Sharkey and Tommy Loughran for a bout at Yankee stadium next month. Jacobs' reference to the Detroit bout, which Carey had planned until he found Jacobs negotiating for the Dempsey booking, seemed, therefore, to be beside the point.

LARADO LOSES TO DANO
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—(UP)—Pablo Dano, Filipino flyweight, won the decision last night in the 10-round main event from Chato Larado of Mexico, but the National Hall crowd did not like it and expressed protest in a shower of wadded newspapers and a roar of boos. Larado led throughout the last five rounds and appeared entitled to at least a draw.

OCEAN PARK, CALIF., Aug. 7.—(UP)—Charley Greenberg won the main event at Ocean Park pavilion last night when he fouled by Jimmy Lundy in the second round of a scheduled eight-round bout. Jack Stevens knocked out Jack Lane in the first round of the semi-windup.

California Girl Bests Swim Mark Twice In 1 Day

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 8.—(UP)—For the second time in six hours, Eleanor Garatti of San Rafael, Calif., lowered the world's record for women in the 100 meter free style when she captured the national championship for the event in the A. A. U. swimming meet here last night.

Miss Garatti's time was one minute, nine and four fifths seconds, which was four fifths of a second faster than her own mark set in New York last year. She was clocked in one minute and ten seconds in the elimination heat early in the day.

Monta Morgan of San Francisco, was second, Lowmear May, Honolulu, fourth, and Albina Osipowich, Worcester, Mass., Olympic champion, was fifth.

The winner was in third place at the 50 meter mark but sprinted to forge ahead in the last ten meters. The meet will continue three more days.

CHAPTER XXXIV
Elise turned to Vilak. "A month? Two months?" she repeated. Her words were dull, lifeless. Drearly she resumed her labor.

They continued working throughout the night. Shortly after dawn the puffing Schwartz returned from his quest. He sighed wearily as he plodded up to Elise. "I had found some men, Fraulin Marberry. But not a night had I had. And not men. Der good men will not come. They had their homes here now und they do not wish to leave. So I must take der rascals, der loafers, der ones who do not work other days and who come now only because you pay them so much money."

"Three, four, maybe, iss good Indians, fine Indians. Der rest iss I know not. Der worst off Porto Verde. I haf get a guide, too. An Indian vot calls himself Atabapo. I do not know him well. He haf just come to Porto Verde. He iss a Indian, toward Peru. I drink a Bororo, maybe, maybe a Nambiquara. He say dat he know der country and iss not afraid. Maybe he knows it, maybe he does not. But der iss no others. So I can do noddings but to take him. He and der others who mit us go vill be here ven comes twelve o'clock tomorrow."

Elise thanked him. She gave him some orders. In half an hour the fazenda was humming with activity. Supplies were collected and loaded upon the backs of eight mules who were to accompany the men until too great stretches of water made their use impossible.

From her fazenda at Villapa Elise obtained a second canoe, also of canvas, for the native boats were little better than dugouts and so heavy and cumbersome as to be almost impossible of transportation over the land.

About two o'clock in the afternoon, two hours later than the time which had been set for their appearance, the native who were to accompany the three Americans began to struggle in. Laziness was evident in the sleepy, drooping faces of some; callousness, brutality in the visages of many.

Two half-breeds, almost albinos, with thick mouths and snow-white hair covering their small animal heads, Nunnally thought appeared dangerous. Three Indians, tall, tawny, almost naked, towered over their companions. The newcomers began leisurely to assist in loading the animals.

At three o'clock Atabapo, the guide, arrived. Tall like the other Indians, he had more of the Mongolian characteristics which have led anthropologists to be certain that the Indian is merely a development of the Mongols who crossed Bering Straits and spread down the American coasts or the Polynesians who sailed in their stomach outriggers from the Pacific islands. His eyes were slanted only a degree less than Vilak's, his cheek-bones very high, his nose straight but broad. Scarcely moving his long, thin mouth when he spoke, his bony face gloomy, impassive, he announced that he was ready.

With the guide and the three friends at the head, the caravan set off. Schwartz, together with the cadaverous Wilson, who had come over from Villapa with the canoe and doggedly insisted on accompanying the expedition, followed. After they came Paulus with the eight placid, heavily laden mules. Then came the two canoes, each borne on the heads of three negroes.

The procession ended in a line of Indians and sleepy half-breeds, the latter listlessly smoking cigarettes and sadly thinking of the time when the mules could no longer trudge along the trail with them and they must carry the heavy burdens on their backs.

Due to the lateness of their start, it was almost sunset by the time they had reached the swamp where the newly cut trail began to pierce the jungle. Going on half a mile farther where the land was slightly higher and the danger of fever and of insect plagues consequently less, they cleared out a narrow patch of underbrush and pitched camp for the night. They ate; an hour or two later began to crawl into their hammocks. Vilak, sitting at the fire to keep watch, was left alone.

He drew a map of Brazil from his pocket and for a long time studied the great river valleys and equatorial wastes that lay to the westward, then returned the map to his pocket. At two-thirty he arose, woke Schwartz, who took his place at the fire, and swung into his hammock for a brief sleep. At five o'clock the caravan was once more en route.

They reached the river winding through the jungle blackness where Paulus on the first expedition had rebelled. The white man began to inspect the mules' cargoes and transfer anything which might be injured by water to the canoes.

The natives glanced apprehensively at the other side of the stream and began muttering. Paulus put a quick end to the possibility of a mutiny by plunging in and swimming swiftly to the other shore. The others laughed, the grumbling ceased.

The white men, Elise and four of the natives clambered into one canoe, the remaining nine blacks and Indians into the other. They started across the stream, some paddling, some holding the swimming hules by the bridges. As they neared the land the huge alligators basking in the mud crawled off sluggishly into the water, frightened at their numbers. They unloaded the canoes, replaced the burdens on the backs of the mules, then set off once more. The trail continued uninterrupted through the forest.

As the caravan pierced deeper and deeper into the wilderness, Elise's spirits somewhat brightened. "You look better," Vilak said. "I am, I've been thinking." She forced herself to smile. "If I let myself go, if I stopped to . . . remember . . . I'd break down again. But I'm not going to. I'm not. I realize it would only hinder you. Only . . . delay us. You're doing everything you can . . . everything. I'm not going to make it harder for you by looking mournful all day long."

"Good scout," he answered and pressed her hand.

$92,259 Spent On Santa Ana Streets In Last Year

HIGHWAY COSTS HERE LISTED IN STATE REPORT

With a total expenditure of $92,259.92 for better streets during the fiscal year just closed, Santa Ana stands well up in the list of 270 municipalities in the state which spent a total of $30,479,296 for this purpose last year, according to a report made to Gov. C. C. Young, at the summer capital in Los Angeles. This amount is a figure greatly in excess of that spent by the state in the construction of new highways and is taken to indicate that, while the state is forging ahead on its $120,000,000 paved highway program for the next 10 years, towns and cities are more than keeping pace.

There has been development, recently, of a feeling that cities should be permitted to share in the division of state apportionments of the revenue realized from the tax on gasoline sales and the argument that is most commonly advanced is that motorists from all parts of the state use the city streets as well as the state highways and that the upkeep of the streets should not be charged entirely to the cities. The idea went so far that a bill was prepared at the last session of the legislature proposing that the cities be permitted to share in this revenue, but the opposition of the state highway authorities caused it to die an early death.

The major expenditures of street funds in Santa Ana during the last year totaled $83,312.25 and was for the following items:

Office salaries, $5670; labor, $32,509.53; drainage, $250.83; gas and oil, $2140.37; office supplies, $180.65; printing, $1847.05; street material, $7658.02; miscellaneous supplies, $5128.98; miscellaneous expense, $432.65; street signs, $1093.75; garage, $24,431.89; new equipment, $968.50.

The list of city expenditures for streets was headed by Los Angeles, which, with its rapidly expanding boundaries, made an outlay of $10,412,619 for the period. Of this amount half represented investment in newly-constructed streets and nearly $1,000,000 went for street lighting.

Of the total amount spent by California cities for street improvements, $10,475,134 represented work on streets, roads and alleys; $1,962,126 for curbs, bridges, gutters and sidewalks; $291,800 for prevention of dust; $4,376,641 for street lighting and $12,940,610 for miscellaneous outlays.

Doughboys Slated To Secure Horns

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The war department has taken away the infantryman's rattle.

The rattle carried by doughboys during the world war for poison gas alarms has been abolished in favor of the alarm horn. Both alarms were used during the war, but the infantry and chemical warfare experts have decided that soldiers might confuse the rattle with the noise made by machine-guns.

HAS 55 LIVING DESCENDANTS

Lewis H. Hill, of 910 West Chestnut street, known as "Daddy Hill" by the citizens of Santa Ana, who will be host, next week, to 55 living descendants and their families. He has been a resident of this city for 25 years and is 73 years of age.

DADDY HILL IS ANTICIPATING REUNION WITH HIS 55 LIVING DESCENDANTS AND FAMILIES

Members of the Hill family, who are expected to arrive here early next week for a family reunion at the Lewis H. Hill home, on West Chestnut street, are anticipating a joyous occasion similar to the reunion held here three years ago. Relatives from Dallas, Texas, will be among the group. Lewis Hill, 73-year-old Santa Anan, can boast of 55 living descendants and challenges any man to give evidence of living a happier life than his. "Daddy Hill," as he is affectionately known by the citizens of Santa Ana, where he has resided for the last 25 years, has had a most eventful career.

Born Oct. 7, 1855, in Franklin Herd county, Georgia, Mr. Hill was one of seven children left alone with his mother when his father, who was with Gen. Robert E. Lee in the Confederate army was wounded in the battle of Chancellorsville, and died in Richmond, in July, 1863.

"Ever since I was old enough to pull suckers off the corn, I have worked," he said enthusiastically, "and if you keep busy all your life you're bound to be happy. I never went to school for three months at one time in the daytime in all my life. We had to do our studying at night and by the light of a pine cone, for we couldn't have even candles."

His mother moved her family to Alabama, in 1869. Daddy Hill married an Alabama girl when she was only 15 and he was 18 years of age, in August, 1874. His 20 years of happiness with his wife is striking contradiction of the claims of critics of the "flapper-age" marriages.

Went To Texas Frontier

METEOR FALL EXPLAINED BY MRS. TESSMAN

When asked today concerning the spectacular fall of meteors to occur between August 9 and 13, according to Dr. Paul W. Merrill, Mt. Wilson observatory astronomer. Mrs. John Tessmann, of Santa Ana, who is recognized as one of the leading woman astronomers of the country and is particularly well known in social and educational circles here, said that the display is to be the usual shower of Andromeda, a northern constellation directly south of Cassiopeia, between Pegasus and Perseus.

Mrs. Tessmann declared that though astronomical records identify the celestial bombardment as an annual occurrence as far back as 1100 years ago, there sometimes are comparatively few meteors visible. She, herself, has seen only small showers, while Dr. Merrill asserts that "the careful observer in an unlighted region should be able to observe at least 30 meteors in an hour and possibly as many as 120."

Lights of the city will not interfere to any great extent with seeing the fiery shower, Mrs. Tessmann volunteered. However, persons who expect to glimpse the display are advised to do so in some open place and away from trees or tall buildings. She seconded Dr. Merrill's assertion that the shower may be seen at its best between midnight and dawn, Sunday, August 11.

In explaining the cause of the shower, Mrs. Tessmann said the earth is at that time passing through a part of the sky where a huge comet once passed and the spectacle really is made up of meteors from the tail of that comet which still are floating through space. A continuous orbit of these small heavenly bodies is said to extend around the sun at right angles to the orbit of the earth and once a year the earth, in making its circuit, passes through the orbit of meteors.

Embalmed Fowl Jury's Evidence

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Aug. 8.—An embalmed chicken will be one of the exhibits in evidence presented to the September grand jury.

When William Baker, of Shadysville, was arrested for chicken stealing, a dressed chicken was discovered hidden in the cistern. Prosecutor McKelvey ordered the fowl taken to a funeral parlor and embalmed so it could be used against Baker next fall.

NEW HOSPITAL SCHOOL UNIT IS NEARLY READY

Many Southern California friends will be glad to learn that a new building rapidly is nearing completion on the grounds of the Orthopaedic Hospital-School for Crippled Children in Los Angeles, which will greatly increase its facilities for services to the physically handicapped boys and girls.

This building will embrace a social service unit for the use of the out-patient department, whose work of welcoming the little children who apply for help has been increased more than 250 per cent during the last five years. In this unit the physical examinations will be made and the work of the psychologist increased. The staff of physiotherapists who undertake the treatment work of the out-patient department will find their new quarters equipped with the latest appliances for baking, massage, muscle training and gymnastic work which means so much to the advance of good health.

Two large pools also are included as a part of the new building plans, one indoors and one outdoors. These pools are gifts of the Los Angeles Optimist club. Hydro-gymnastics are playing an even larger and more important part in the reclamation of activity of paralyzed muscles and the excellent results obtained by the Orthopaedic hospital in this new field are attracting the attention of other orthopaedic hospitals throughout the country.

Another portion of this new building will house an auditorium to seat between 300 and 400, perfectly equipped with stage and screen. Here the Senior Alumni association, as the organization of the older patients is known, will find facilities for their program work, meetings of staff members. Two of the Senior Alumni associations are active in Los Angeles and each will be provided with a room for their chapter meetings close to the auditorium. There also will be space for the extended administration offices.

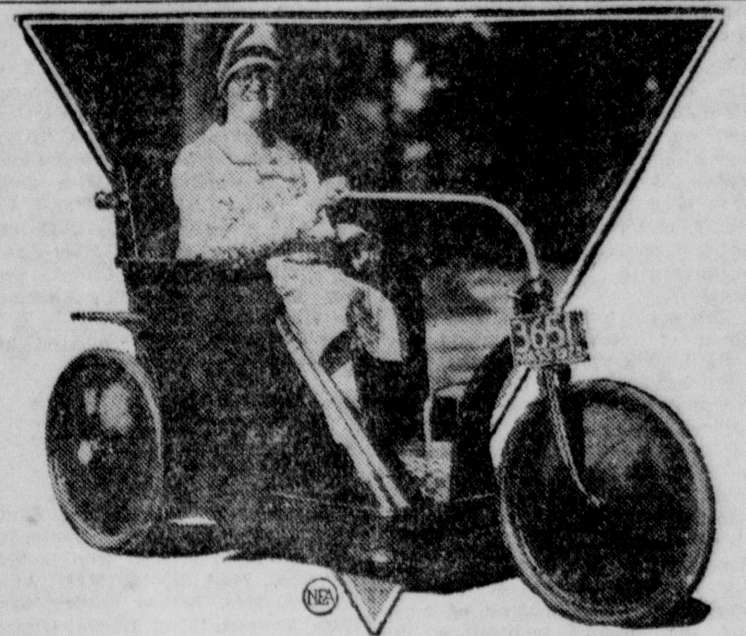

The public of Southern California is cordially invited to visit the grounds of the institution and see for itself the entire reclamation program which is being carried on there.

About 130 schedules are operating, and these schedules take planes over lighted air lanes 14,571 miles long, linking 37 states. The average fare is about nine cents a mile.

Traffic cops won't arrest Miss Myrtle Whalen if she goes around a corner on three wheels. Here you see the Middleboro, Mass., woman in her "electric wheel chair" which she operates under a regular driver's license, having passed the required state test. The unique vehicle has parking lights, shock absorbers and three solid rubber tires and can be driven in three speeds. See the license tag, too!

Gives Money Away And Gets Jailed

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(UP)—Thomas Maturewicz, 39, was arrested here recently on the paradoxical charge of giving away money.

Maturewicz had lost his job, and shortly afterward he was discovered prowling through the streets donating 20 and 50-dollar bills to various astonished passersby.

He had gone to the bank, drawn $3,599.80, his life's savings, and proceeded to pay 50 dollars for a five-dollar hat and a like amount for cigars, refusing change from the clerks who waited on him. He then singled out a truck driver and handed him a "half-century."

Authorities are holding the man for observation.

SEE SUCCESS FOR CULINARY EXHIBIT

The Orange County fair's culinary department, so successful in years past, this year promises to exceed any former record as to number of entries, according to Mrs. H. J. Hinrichs, superintendent of the department. Mrs. Hinrichs expresses herself as gratified at the number of women who are interesting themselves in preparing exhibits for the coming fair.

Prizes will be awarded for the various successful entries, in class 1, Bread; 2, Cake; 3, Cookies; 4, Muffins; 5, Pies, etc. Additional classes include candles, canned fruit, preserved fruit, jellies, jam,

LEGION WOMEN ANNOUNCE DATE OF JELLY DRIVE

With the dates of Friday and Saturday, September 6 and 7, named for the annual jam and jelly drive of the American Legion auxiliary, members of that organization today asked Santa Ana housewives to set aside some of the products of their busy canning season to donate to the auxiliary for the benefit of veterans in the two veterans' hospitals of the Southland, in San Fernando and Sawtelle.

Each year since the World war the Legion auxiliary has staged these jelly drives, collecting the home-canned dainties for the disabled veterans. Interest has grown with the years and response on the part of Santa Ana housewives always has been generous. The fruit is collected in the Legion hall, on Birch street, and members of the American Legion give their services in seeing that it is taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Fannie H. Reeves is serving as chairman of this year's committee and today stated that the donations would be received on the specified dates in the Legion hall. On Sunday, September 8, they will be loaded on a truck, furnished by the Legion, and taken to the hospitals. If the plan that has prevailed in previous years is followed, a delegation of Legion and auxiliary members will accompany the gift and see to the distribution of the sweets.

canned vegetables, pickles, spiced fruit, dried fruit and canned meats. A charge of 10 cents is made for each entry and any information needed can be secured by phoning Mrs. Hinrichs, at Orange 420-R, or addressing her at Orange R. D. No. 2.

You will find many houses and apartments for rent in the Register classified columns.

SNAPSHOTS OF A BABY IN HOT WEATHER

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

GLUYAS WILLIAMS

DOESN'T SEE WHY THE GROWN-UPS ARE MAKING SUCH A FUSS ABOUT THIS HOT SPELL

AS FOR HIM HE THRIVES ON HOT WEATHER

THEY LET HIM CRY AS MUCH AS HE FEELS LIKE AND BLAME IT ON THE HEAT

AND IF HE'D RATHER PLAY THAN TAKE HIS NAP THEY SAY, NO WONDER, WHEN IT'S SO HOT

AND THEY DON'T FORCE HIM TO FINISH HIS BOTTLE AS THEY DO IN COOL WEATHER

AND THEY LET HIM SUCK HIS THUMB BECAUSE THEY THINK IT WILL KEEP HIS MIND OFF THE HEAT

AND HE DOESN'T HAVE TO WEAR MANY CLOTHES

AND THE FEW THAT THEY PUT ON HIM ARE EASILY GOTTEN OUT OF

Wedding to Take Place In Anaheim on Saturday

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Gloria Gardner of San Clemente and Clifford Green of this city which is to take place Saturday at the home of friends in Anaheim with the Rev. William Taylor, acting pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, officiating.

The announcement was greeted with interest here where Mr. Green has lived for a number of years and is well known as a photographer. He is in charge of Green's Photo Service and is staff photographer for The Register. He is a graduate of the Eastman Kodak school. During the war he was associated with Ewing, Incorporated, official photographers stationed at Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.

Miss Gardner, who came to California three years ago from Florida where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gardner, still reside, has been laboratory technician at the San Clemente hospital. She is a graduate nurse, having received her training at the General hospital in New Orleans.

The couple will not leave for a honeymoon trip until September 1 and on their return they will make their home in this city.

Santa Ana Folk Choose Church of Angels For Wedding

Miss Helen Menges, charming daughter of Mrs. Stella Menges of 2151-2 South Birch street, and Clarence McFaddin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McFaddin of Greenville, were to have been married this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the lovely Church of the Angels in Garvanza.

The church was decorated for the ceremony with baskets of gladioli and blue delphinium and on the altar were two tall vases of roses. The impressive Episcopal marriage service was to have been read by the Rev. Father Gould, rector of the church, to the accompaniment of low strains of organ music played by the church organist.

The bride had chosen a wedding gown of ivory satin made with snug bodice and long full skirt with trimming of Chantilly lace for the wedding. Her long tulle veil was caught to a dainty lace cap and the flowers that she was to carry were bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her only jewelry was to have been the lovely string of pearls that was the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Dana Carey of Berkeley was asked to be matron of honor and her costume included a blue taffeta frock with graceful overskirt of tulle and tulle head band and satin slippers in the same color. Her flowers were to be pink roses.

Miss Louise Young, in similar costume in tints of coral and Miss Maurine Mathes in green, were to have been the bridesmaids. They had chosen orchid and yellow sweet peas for their bouquets.

Howard Budlong and John McFaddin of this city were to serve as ushers while Clarence Brown of San Juan Capistrano was to act as best man. Dr. M. M. Menges of Fullerton, brother of the bride, was to escort his sister into the church and to give her in marriage.

Friends of the couple were to be greeted at the church following the service at an informal reception after which Mr. McFaddin and his bride were to leave for a honeymoon in Northern California. The bride was to wear a becoming ensemble in black and eggshell tan with harmonizing accessories as her going away costume. On their return they will be at home on North Broadway.

Mr. McFaddin, who is a prominent rancher, graduated from the local high school and the Oregon state college and he is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. His charming young wife was born in this city and she graduated from the Santa Ana high school, later entering the University of California at Berkeley where she was affiliated with the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. For several years she has been a member of the faculty at Lowell grammar school.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Missionary Meeting

The Woman's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church held its regular meeting at the church on Wednesday preceding the meeting the Ladies Aid society met and tied a comfort.

At 12 o'clock a California luncheon was served by the committee, Mrs. T. L. Warren, Mrs. Benjamin Heemstra, Mrs. M. M. Tidball and Mrs. Anna Scott. A birthday cake was served to those having birthdays in August. Many beautiful flowers were used in decorations. An interesting letter was read by Mrs. Scott Torrence from the missionary, Mrs. Fred Russell, of Addis Ababa, Abyssinia. Mrs. Scott Thompson led the devotional services.

Mrs. Thompson had charge of the program and the subject was "Egypt." Mrs. Harry Stewart of Whittier gave an account of a trip to Egypt, which she made recently. The next meeting will be held on September 4, and the subject will be "Temperance." Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess will be in charge.

W. H. M. S.

An interesting program was given Wednesday afternoon by the Woman's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church under the direction of Mrs. Fred Lazenby.

It was a missionary demonstration—"Undimmed by Human Tears." The principal characters, Spirit of Missions, America and Spirit of the Past, were taken by Mrs. W. B. Snow, Mrs. R. L. Matthews and Mrs. W. C. Baker.

America's children: Mrs. Estes as the colored mammy of the south; Mrs. McKee as the Mexican woman from the border; Mrs. Blackburn, the mountaineer; Mrs. Freeman, the orphan; Mrs. Stauffer, the oriental; Miss Collings, the migratory worker; Mrs. Marston, the American Indian; Miss De Barr the emigrant; Alice McKee, the emigrant child; and Miss Esther Vogt as the Esquimo, each in turn brought her charge to the Spirit of Missions, condemned her for her lack of interest in their welfare and plead for help.

The Spirit of Missions responded by calling up the Spirit of the Past to tell of the organization of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, with Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes as the first president and also asked the national officers represented by Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Lutes, Mrs. Van Nest, Mrs. Wetherell, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Brandebury to outline the various branches of the work done by the society.

The program was ended by a salute to the Christian flag, then to the American flag, followed by the verse "Our Father's God to Thee" sung as a prayer.

Missouri Visitor Is Complimented By Hostess

Miss Agnes Todd Miller of 422 West Chestnut avenue, entertained delightfully yesterday afternoon for her guest, Miss Margaret Mohler, of St. Joseph, Mo., by summoning to her home a small group of congenial folk who enjoyed chatting together, some busying their hands with bits of needlework. The feature of the afternoon, however, was music by Mrs. Charles Best and her daughter, Miss Catherine Best, accompanied by Miss Eva Ramsey.

Mrs. Best sang several selections from her book of poems "Whys and Otherwise," for which music has been written by Miss Josephine Hills. Mrs. Best and her daughter sang as a duet, Goetze's "Calm As the Night." Miss Ramsey's numbers were a Chopin prelude in E Flat and "In Autumn" by Moszkowski.

Friends Gather at Teague Home

Mrs. A. J. Teague of 1206 South Birch street was hostess yesterday to a group of friends who included Mrs. Mell Scott, Mrs. Anna Warner, Mrs. Bertha Criley, Mrs. Rose Everett, Mrs. Lottie Ulmon, Mrs. Grace Scott, Mrs. Muri Kesterson, Miss Billie Kesterson, Mrs. Sybil Warner and son, Frank, and Mrs. Eva Wold of Huntington Beach, Mrs. S. L. Harrell and grandson, Nathan, of Santa Ana.

Gay Little Affair Is Held In Coon Home

A gay little affair of last night was the five hundred party given by Miss Maurine Coon at her home, 807 Orange avenue. Cards were enjoyed until a late hour when Miss Coon served a delicious supper. The supper appointments were in the delicate tints of pink expressed in the carnations, roses, and amaryllis arranged about the home.

The attractive prizes were won by Miss Marguerite McIntosh and Edward Grothier. Guests of Miss Coon were Miss Marguerite McIntosh, Miss Dolly Everett, Miss Ada Everett, Ralph Fuller, Edward Grothier, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Coon and Mrs. G. N. Coon.

Growing Importance of Child Study Circles Told By Lecturer

"The most up-to-date study in the country today is that of the child, and no woman who considers herself abreast of the times will fail to enroll herself in one of two of the many circles now being instituted, not only in this country, but all over the world for child study and parental education," stated Mrs. H. R. Archbald, manager of the Bureau of Parental Education for the State Congress of Parents-Teachers, yesterday before the chairman of parental education and child study of the Fourth District P. T. A., at the home of Mrs. Neal Beisel, 417 Cypress street.

The aim of this bureau is to interest all parents in parental education," continued Mrs. Archbald. "The definite end of study is education and education is growth. No study circle is designed to tell you how to handle your own child but to study the underlying causes of behavior in children. Nor is the study confined to that of the child and its adjustment in the home, but also the adjustment of adults, not alone parents but in-laws, grandparents, and friends. The courses are a liberal, broad education in parenthood along lines of better adjustments. That the subject is engaging the attention of thinking men and women all over the world is evidenced by the interest shown in widely read magazines, which are devoting much space to the study of the child, and kindred subjects. Noted doctors and eminent barristers are writing and lecturing upon the necessity of parental education and child study, for all realize that the future of civilization rests in the hands of the children.

"Many parents are concerned with symptoms instead of the underlying causes of behavior. They are distressed over the telling of the lie more than over the cause that brought forth the untruth. Many times the child is merely trying to agree with the parents. The cause of the untruth may be fear, or other obsessions, often not confined to childhood alone," the lecturer said.

These study circles will be one of the major projects of the P. T. A. during the coming year. During the discussion which followed the informal and enjoyable talk of Mrs. Archbald it was learned that four child study circles had been carried on successfully in the Fourth district last year, three of which were in Orange P. T. A. circles. Several books of value were recommended for reading and study.

Among the interested listeners were Mrs. May L. Green, Orange, Fourth District chairman of Parental Education and Child Study. Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, counselor of Fourth district; Mrs. A. B. Marshall, state and district chairman of Fine Arts; Mrs. G. D. Marvin, Anaheim; Mrs. Ora K. Heine, chairman of Santa Ana council study circle; Mrs. Sam Preble, Mrs. Earl Morris, chairman of programs of the fourth district; and Mrs. Neal Beisel, president of the fourth district.

Recommendations

When one hears our service spoken of in appreciative terms, he may be sure that the speaker is sincere; that he recommends our service without thought of any monetary or other tangible reward.

This fact is one worthy of consideration, for a truly desirable service would certainly not need to buy recommendations.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY- THE HOME WEDDINGS FRATERNAL FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

Eugene O'Neill, the playwright, indulged in his third matrimonial venture the other day. His marriage to actress Carlotta Monterey took place two or three weeks after his divorce from his second wife, Mrs. Agnes Boulton O'Neill.

Colonel H. H. Rogers of the Standard Oil millions was also married a few weeks ago and this marriage took place within a few days after his divorce from Mrs. Rogers, best known, perhaps, as the mother of Millicent Rogers who became Countess Salm with havoc to all.

NO COLLUSION!

And it is quite possible in both cases of these people famous enough to break into print with their romances that the divorces were arranged. Yet our divorce laws continue to forbid collusion in the obtaining of a divorce, and we preen ourselves on our superiority to Soviet Russia and other countries which permit both parties to arrange a divorce between them.

To wink at the law is one thing. To change the law seems to be another.

CHRONIC

Speaking of marriage, Josef Windovel, a Hottentot of South Africa, took unto himself a third wife the other day. He, the bridegroom, was 128, she, a sprightly young thing of 47. Windovel might seem proof of the theory that marriage is a disease, once caught it stays chronic.

PONY AND BOY

Cyril Watson of Chicago, 11 years old, is just one of hundreds of thousands of boys who want a pony more than anything else in life. Cyril saved all his pennies and nickels and dimes and even dollar bills that relatives who knew his dream gave him. He got his pony. He had ridden his little beauty only a few times when the pony threw him and trampled him to death beneath its sharp hoofs.

Cyril's heartbroken parents are probably wondering now why they ever let him have the pony. Perhaps all the time he was saving his pennies they worried, just as parents worry when they give the son a car, or let him have a scooter or a bicycle or a toy pistol.

GIVE, ANYWAY

But parents have learned that parental worry is so almost invariably futile and unjust and destructive a thing that they force themselves to give their children their heart's desire.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Fluffing Up Those Blankets

If blankets are washed at home it is well to know a little about the likes and dislikes blankets show under good and bad treatment.

All wool materials have a tendency to pack under pressure—that is why woolen golf hose have to be bought extra long, the wearing and washing pack the wool and shrink them. The same thing happens when wool blankets are not washed carefully, they not only get short, they also get narrow and look like famine sufferers are supposed to look. So—

Use the very best soap flakes to be bought, beat them into a thick suds in hot water, add cooler water until the tub is half full of slightly warmed sudsy water. Have the blankets well shaken to dislodge loose dust, drop into the suds and with one of those implements that look like a large funnel on a handle start the washing operation.

This way, the water is forced THROUGH the wool, rubbed on a board the wool packs down and the blanket is left with a harsh surface. Transfer the sudsed blankets to a tub full of clean, cool water, and again the same process, drain without wringing and hang evenly on an outdoor line.

Now, to make the blankets smooth and fluffy when dried, take the garden hose and rinse them well while on the line, allowing the water to drain down as it will.

The sun and wind will do the rest, plus a gently shaking when you take them off the line smelling like a June rose.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Pineapple Dressing
½ cup canned pineapple juice
4 tablespoons lemon juice

Whether those things are worry breeders or not.

Fortunately, such proofs as this child's death that worry is merited and that a child should not have a pony or a scooter because he might be killed by them are rare.

SHE TRIED

But that doesn't mean that it will be any easier for parents to continue giving their children dangerous toys while they stifle their worry for the child's happiness than it was easy for Mrs. Caroline Bell Paletta of Uniontown, Pa., to burn her seven-year-old's hands when she found him stealing.

She told a judge that it was breaking her heart to see Matthew take money that didn't belong to him; that whipping didn't do good, so she tried burning his hands. The judge fined her $25.

BIG JOB

Hard business, this of being a parent. It's hard not to give kids ponies, and it's hard to give 'em. It's hard to see them steal and it's hard to burn their hands, because it's hard to know whether burning hands will help any more than whipping.

The hardest job in the world pays no salary, not even one of grateful offspring, sometimes.

CAPACITY CROWDS SEEING 'SHOWBOAT'

Santa Ana theater-goers have just two more days to see "Showboat," great talking and singing picture of the Mississippi river, which has been running at the Fox-Walker theater since Monday.

Such a hit has "Showboat" been here that seats have not been available to late comers a single day or night and indications are that today's show will again be packed.

Laura La Plante, beautiful Universal star, has the leading feminine role in "Showboat," as Magnolia, the daughter of Capt. Andy Hawley, owner of the floating palace. She becomes the star of the show, falls in love with a river gambler who loses her money and leaves her in Chicago. She goes to New York, meets with success on the stage, singing her river songs and then returns to the river that she knew so well.

McLaglen's Work Is Outstanding In 'Black Watch'

Victor McLaglen, in his new all-talking vehicle, "The Black Watch," does his best work since "What Price Glory," but this is because it is the first picture since the days of Captain Flag that he has been cast where he could show his true McLaglen.

The picture closes a four-day run at the Fox-Broadway theater tonight.

Myrna Loy has the feminine lead in the play, most of the scenes of which are laid in India. It is a gripping story of love and adventure that will be remembered for some time.

BIG BUSINESS

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Richard Levy, 14, has an eye for business. He is a modeler of boats when he finds time off from playing with other children. He valued his models so much that he had one, a little craft fitted with a boiler, insured for about $40. The craft in cruising in a pond was wrecked and the boy received a check from the insurance company.

75% OF BUSINESS GIRLS WASH DISHES AT HOME—

Survey Shows They Wash Dishes One Way to Keep Hands Lovely

In the world's largest office building, in New York, a recent survey of business girls showed 75% had home duties, including dishes to wash.

Almost without exception these busy girls say that washing dishes actually helps them to keep their hands lovely and white for the office—because they use Lux in the dishpan. Nine out of every ten asked wash their dishes with Lux.

As Miss Elsy Stephens, private secretary to the vice-president of a large company, says:

"I find that Lux in the dishpan keeps my hands looking lovely—and of course in my position it is important that my hands look dainty and well cared for. The Lux suds feel so soothing and bland, and my hands always look smoother and whiter after washing dishes than before. I really like to wash dishes for that reason—for with Lux your hands get beauty care right in the dishpan."

THE ANYMITES

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The car kept speeding down the hill and Clowny said, "I've had my fill of this queer ride. Let's all jump off. I fear I'll break my neck. If we should hit a curve real quick! Oh my, the thought just makes me sick. I know that we would suddenly be thrown into a wreck."

"Oh, don't keep shouting," Scouty cried. "Some way to stop this should be tried. I wish that we could find a break that very snugly locks. Your plan to jump is very wrong. We'd best stay here where we belong. I'm sure that I don't care to land upon some pointed rocks."

So, while the bunch held on real tight, the car whizzed on with all its might. It reached a sudden curve and almost jumped right off the track. The little wheels just thumped and thumped, and "round about the Tines bumped. "Another jolt like that," said one, "and it will break my neck."

They rode for half an hour or more, each wondering just what was in store. The trains hung to the left side and then tipped over to the right. Said Coppy, "Say, it seems to me that in an awful fix we'll be if night comes while we ride along. "I'll take all things from sight."

Then Scouty jumped and said, "Wait here! I'm leaving, and there's naught to fear. I'm going to climb atop this car and see what I can do." And while the small car swayed and squeaked, out of a window he soon sneaked. Said Clowny, "Do what'er you can. We'll leave our fate to you."

Soon Scouty cried, "For goodness sake, I've found a wheel that works a brake." He eyed the wheel a moment and then reached it in one hop. "Course right away he turned it fast. Then suddenly he yelled, "At last I've found a way to save us. Look! The train's begun to stop."

EVENING SALUTATION

"If the new age finds new physical powers,
it will find also hitherto undreamed of energies in men's minds and hearts, able to produce a philosophy of life which will enable man to achieve inner happiness even amidst such a high-pressure pageant."
—Francis R. Bellamy.

LEISURE TIME

The time is coming when the foreign dispar-agement of America's cultural progress will not be unchallenged. So far, it is true, much of our culture has been acquired from Europe.
And to pessimists the future of American culture has appeared gloomy. True, the balance has hung perilously between an animal-like seeking for comforts and physical pleasures and the urge for intellectual pleasures. No people in the history of the world have ever had the opportunity for individual cultural development which is ours. With the short working day, good wages, easy transportation to centers
of culture, everyone has a chance at intellectual development. In other days, other people have developed wonderfully, but always the development and cultural advantages have been for a small class supported by slaves or peons.

The problems of increased leisure time have concerned social workers and philosophers.
What would the people do with their leisure time? Would they use it to destroy themselves or in growth and development and for artistic pleasures?

Are we beginning to see the answer in the report from the United States Bureau of Education, just made public, which states that the number of grown persons going to school last year were thirty per cent more than the number that registered for class work the year before?

In 1926-1927 two hundred thousand adults
were enrolled, while last year two hundred sixty thousand were enrolled. The bureau in its report, states that the greatest contrasts in life
are noticeable in men and women after forty-five or fifty years of age, because some are able
at that time to make a transition from interests that are largely physical to those that are more largely mental and spiritual, while others,
for some reason, do not make this important transition and their old age, therefore, is uninteresting and pessimistic.

Here in Southern California, where physical pleasures are more numerous the year around than elsewhere in the country, we are indeed
fortunate that this transition can be made easily.
Both circumstances we owe to our climate. Back in the middle west, the opportunity for adults to attend classes is limited indeed. Winter weather closes things up quite effectively. Here and there classes can be offered in the high school, but the choice of adult educational work
is limited for the individual to what is offered in his own city, for commuting to any extent is impractical for the worker, and there is not yet enough demand for adult education to make practical a varied assortment of adult class-room activities.

Emphasis has been placed on Southern California opportunities for physical pleasures, outdoor sports, but the emphasis could well be placed on the cultural advantages of Southern California. There are already many who have discovered them.

A North Carolina editor walked down the street attired in pajamas. Aha! Another editorial ex-posure!

SUBVERTING "CIVIL SERVICE"

An old political scheme has come into the limelight and is causing a lot of talk in Los Angeles.

The scheme is that when an appointment is made a resignation is written out and handed to the one making the appointment to be used at his discretion.

Thus the appointee holds his appointment
just so long as he does the will of his boss. This plan used by Mayor Porter is not by any means
new. It has been used for more than half a century at least.

Age, however, and precedent do not make it respectable or make it conform to the ideals of independence in office of our public servants.

Our system was never designed that appointees should be under the absolute domination of some one else, or that they should be removed with or without cause at the whim of another.

Imagine what a czar it would make of the governor of California if he held the resignations of all his appointees to be used as he saw fit. There would be little independence of thought or action on the part of any appointee.
And the will of the boss would be supreme.
No self-respecting man or woman with proper conception of public service would accept such an appointment, and only inferior "yes men"
would fill the offices.

"Civil service" would become a futile gesture and the public would be served even worse than it is now.

The scheme is indefensible from any point of view and tends to thwart the will of the public.
If the people wanted that sort of government
it would put into the hands of the appointing power the autocratic right of dismissal at will.
This has not been done, and the public has in a blundering sort of way attempted to protect the honest and efficient appointee, keep him in office and profit by his fitness and experience.
The voters in the last analysis have the remedy
in their own hands, for they may refuse to re-elect where this practice is discovered. The difficulty, however, is two-fold. In the first place, the appointing power can build up a powerful machine to circumvent the voters, and in the second place, the practice is naturally secret. In the long run, the voters will correct any political abuse when they know the facts.

MORE ENGLISH JUSTICE

A wealthy young United States citizen was recently convicted of manslaughter for the killing of a motorcyclist, by driving an automobile
while under the influence of intoxicating liquor,
in London, England.

The sentence imposed was the payment of all the court costs and imprisonment for the term of five months. This time began to run at the beginning of the trial, so that it is estimated that the sentence will be entirely served before Christmas. Leniency was shown because the young man was only 23 years old and had a good reputation.

The punishment in California for the same offense might be a sentence to the penitentiary
up to ten years with no minimum fixed by law.
But the defendant may be convicted of murder.

Much has been said of the certain, quick and evenhanded justice administered by the English courts, but this could hardly be cited as an example of it. At least, it does not appeal to the American public as a just punishment for the offense. A drunken driver of an automobile on one of our busy highways is justly made a felony. If he kills a person it may be murder, and the extreme penalty inflicted.

People in California have been given more than five months in jail for petty theft, even when it was shown the theft was committed to prevent starvation.

There are two reasons for the difference in the laws of England and the United States. In the first place, the English respect the law to a far greater degree than in America, and the severer sentence is not necessary as a deterrent. In the second place, their theory is that convictions are more certain when the known punishment is not too heavy. The question really is,
"Will this boy Reynolds quit mixing whiskey with his gasoline?"

Many people moving in the best circles are not straight.

VITAL STATISTICS AND PARKS

Dr. Haven Emerson, professor of public health administration in Columbia University and Earle B. Phelps, professor of sanitary science at the same university in an article written jointly for the August Graphic Survey, include the interesting fact that in Washington, "where among all American cities of 500,000 and over the expectancy of life is highest, and in Pittsburgh where it is lowest, we have the extremes of abundant foliage, parks and spacious streets in one place and an almost treeless city of bare streets in the other."

Although Pittsburgh has other disadvantages to contend with in addition to not having foliage
and parks, Washington which is noted for its wide streets, trees, parks and abundant space exceeds, in this rating, cities without Pittsburgh's peculiar disadvantages and Washington's fine advantages.

When the Injured Refuse to Prosecute

San Bernardino Sun

A short time ago a young lady from Santa Barbara was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Chicago by a car driven through a safety zone by another young woman, daughter of a prominent man of that city. Her parents had "no wish to prosecute" and refused to do so of their own volition. The state's attorney did have a wish to prosecute and refused to drop the case. Which wish will prevail in the end only the outcome will show.

The case serves to illustrate what is going on constantly. It is a confusion in the public mind, and too much so in the minds of prosecuting officials, as to the object of punishment of offenders.
There seems to be a general idea that if the person injured when a crime is committed, be his injury physical or financial, does not care to have the guilty person punished, that is the end of the matter. He "refuses to prosecute" and the case is dropped. Such a refusal does credit to the one who is able to conquer the natural human spirit
of revenge and have compassion upon one who has injured him. If the injury is wilful in its nature, refraining from seeking "satisfaction"—usually camouflaged by calling it "justice"—is still more to his credit. It is one of the highest Christian virtues to "return good for evil."

But the courts do not exist for the purpose of enabling injured people to state their desire for revenge. It is not their object to help people to gloat over the "justice" meted out to somebody who has injured them. They are instruments for the protection of society. Legal punishments, in theory at least, are for the prevention of further acts of the same sort, by which others than those who suffered in the immediate case may be protected from like injury. Whether the theory of prevention of crime by punishments is sound or not is another question, but under that theory punishment does not at all depend upon the desire of the injured that it be inflicted.

Rodents Are Ruinous In California

Pasadena Star-News

What pest, do you suppose, causes the state of California an annual loss of $25,000,000? No, not the Mediterranean fruit fly, but rodents—rats, ground squirrels, gophers and other pests of that animal family. The state is warring on these enemies of the rancher, orchardist and gardener. It is not altogether a winning fight. But the volume of destruction would be much heavier if this war against the rodents were not waged.

It cost $750,000 during the last year to fight these destructive little creatures. And yet they are not exterminated.

When one thinks of the damage that is inflicted upon the productions and works of men by insects and animals, one is inclined to believe there might be something in the gruesome prophecies of some men of science that eventually these insect, parasitic and animal pests will drive man from the earth and take possession of it for themselves. Federal, state and county governments collaborate in this state to oppose the ravages of these rapacious rodents. In the past year, in fighting these field and orchard enemies, 2,123,452 pounds of wheat, 100,187 ounces of strychnine, 5194 pounds
of thallium, and 640,000 pounds of carbon bisulphide were used. This protective work of destroying rodents is done under auspices of the State Department of Agriculture.

Each and every person may assist in this good work by eliminating these pests, by keeping their own premises clear of them.

MODERN MERCHANDISING

Where is the peddler who used to come "round
With stuff that is now out of date
Such as hair cloth divans and queer Japanese fans
And knick-knacks of wood and tin plate?
You will find him far out on the rural high way,
He is put to no trouble at all
He merely stocks up an old farm house today
And waits till the purchasers call.

Where is the farmer who drove through the streets
His old fashioned wagon piled high
With scallions and beans and tomatoes and greens
Which he sold to whoever would buy?
He piles up his garden truck outside his gate,
For though he's still husky and strong
Why drive into town, when he only need wait
Till the townspeople motor along?

However far scattered the husbandmen are
Their quaint rustic wares are displayed
Before their abodes on the elm shaded roads
While they wait for the motorist trade.
They purvey all the spoil of the sweet earthly soil,
Such as sundries and strawberry ice,
And each couple of weeks stock up fresh on antiques
Which they buy at the factory price.

And what of the poor retail dealers at home?
Are they bitter and loud in their wail?
Do they moan that the way things are going today
They never can make a good sale?
They have simply adjusted themselves to the times
And have little cause for alarm,
When their stuff goes so old that it cannot be sold
They just send it out to the farm.

How Can Europe Ever Pay
Her Debts?By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

The debts owed to the United States by foreign countries are constantly becoming larger. They are several billion dollars larger than they were a few years ago.

How can these debts be paid?

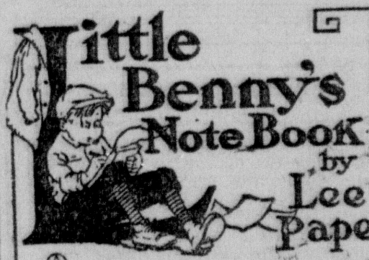

Clearly enough, they cannot be paid in marks and francs.
The currencies of foreign countries cannot be used to pay debts in the United States until they are converted into something which will be accepted by the United States.

How, then, can these billions of foreign debts to the United States be paid? Not with gold, for there is not enough gold in the world. Not with services, for the value of services to our tourists abroad is not equal to half the additional debts which are being piled up, year by year.

There is but one way out. These debts can be paid only with commodities. That means that the debtor countries must export to us more goods than they import from us. In other words, we must have for many years what is called an "unfavorable balance of trade." Yet we shun such a condition as though it were a plague. Every year we prevent our foreign debtors from paying their debts with goods.

We should either enable them to start paying their debts or else have it plainly understood that further loans abroad are not business, but philanthropy.

Last nite we was eating suppr
and pop sed to ma, O by the way, I saw some very intristing news in this mornings paper concerning some stocks you are intristed in.

O yes, you meen Thyroid Limited.
I saw it too, ma sed. It said Thyroid Limited was going to do something or other, I cant think of the werd, with International Calories,
she sed.

Consolidate, pop sed, and ma sed,
Yes, that was it, consolidate. And blevee me I didnt let any grass
make hay under my feet, & acted immedietly, she sed.

Do you mean you hawt more?
pop sed, and ma sed, Certeny not,
you cant catch me that way, I called up Emma Parkers neffew and told him to sell my shares at once, so I cleared a profit of a hundred and 80 dollars no matter what happens, she let. Let them go ahed and consolidate now if they wunt to, she said.

But for Peet sake, that was the time we hold, not to sell, pop sed.
It was the opportunity of a lifetime. International Calories is a 5 billion dollar corporation, so a Thyroid Limited automatically shoots up in value like a skyrocket, why it mite go up a hundred points a share in no time at all, so with 20 shares of that you'd of made 2 thousand dollars, he sed.

O my goodness, I thawt consolidating ment something like going into bankruptsy, O shaw, where's
the evening paper, I want to see just how much I would of made, Benny, run upstairs and get the paper, ma sed.

Wich I did, and ma quick opened
it to the financial page, saying, Heres something about it in big letters. And she started to read it out loud, saying, Officers of Thyroid Limited Under Arrest. Government to Take Action. For frau-dulently circulating a statement that Thyroid Limited was about to incorporate with International Calories, the early reports of wich prob-erly caused the misterious rise of Thyroid yestidday, all the officers of the company have been arrested.
The stock, wich is sed to be werthless, fell 20 points when the statement was found to be fraudulent.

Yee gods, pop sed, and ma sed,
Now, you see, you can always trust
a woman's intuition, even when it comes to financial matters, I was rite all a time.

So you were, pass the butter
please, pop sed.

Wich she did.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

THE WAGES OF WOMEN

Occupational opportunities for women are rapidly approaching the occupational opportunities for men.
But wages for women are not in like manner approaching equality with wages for men.

Women's wages, on the average,
are one-third or more lower than men's wages for the same general
kind of work.

A recent study of twenty-five industries shows that the weekly wage scale runs about as follows:
All wage-earners $26.90
All men wage-earners 2936
Skilled men wage-earners ... 30.80
Unskilled men wage-earners. 24.12
All women—skilled and unskilled 17.34

Here are some of the "reasons"
given for this marked inequality between the rewards of male and female work:

The hang-over of the old prejudice of industry against women workers in field before pre-empted
by men.

The differences in health and physical force between women and men workers.

The restriction of women to certain types of work.
The fact that so many women
take employment temporarily enroute to marriage.

The marked lack of union organization among women workers
as compared with men workers.

The higher labor turnover that industries have with women workers than with men workers.

And the fact that much labor legislation, which was designed to protect women workers, has restricted the time and types of work in which women may engage their energies.

I make no attempt to pass judgment upon all these "reasons" for the inequality between the wages of men and women.

I merely venture the prophecy that the recently achieved political equality of women will sooner or later be followed by the achievement of the economic equality of women.

This is one of the vital issues
ahead!

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

JOKE

What is a joke? If one could explain that to children they would be saved a great deal of unhappiness. But jokes differ according to the sense of humor of the individual. What is a great joke to one is a deadly affront to another. How is the child to know?
What is all in good fun one time
may be quite out of order next time. May not be regarded as funny at all. How is a child to understand?

Mother tells father a story and he looks startled. He asks a question or two and looks more and more worried until suddenly mother laughs and says, "I was only joking. He said nothing of the kind. Just called up to say he hoped you would be able to run over this evening and plan for the new route so as to start next week instead of the week after.
Just though I'd tease you."

Very good. Everybody laughs and little Peter laughs loudest. He knows now what a joke is. He'll do one. He comes home next day or so with excitement in his voice and in his eyes. "Mother, what do you think? Old seventy-nine jumped the tracks and everybody's killed." Mother gives him a strange look and fawns away. Well, how was Peter to know that one story was not as good as another? He likes wrecks and things.

One afternoon the family was inspecting a house about 15 miles away from home. Just for a joke grandpa shut Peter in a closet
and made believe lock the door and go away. When Peter, after pounding upon the door like a wild man and yelling like an Indian,
discovered the door to be unlocked, he didn't appreciate the joke as much as his elders did.

The family strolled along through the fields and the orchard for about a quarter of an hour without grandfather and somebody asked where he was? Nobody knew. Peter looked as though he might burst with the grandeur
of his knowledge and importance, shook his head and said, "He'll be along all right. He'll come along pretty soon."

But he didn't come and mother,
sensing a cause for Peter's strutting shook him by the arm and sternly demanded that he tell anything he knew about grandfather. "I played a joke on him.
When he went into the board bin I locked the door. He'll come out all right."

The coal bin happened to be no
coal bin at all, but an ice house built in the ground and you can imagine poor grandfather shut in that dark damp hole. But Peter did not understand all that when he turned the wooden button across the door.

Children have no discrimination in such matters. Pins on chain chairs pulled from under folk suits in coffee, chemical powders
blown into rooms, frogs in beds, wires cut, false alarms, seem to them to be all right. They are jokes. Grown people have said
so. How are they to know unless we teach them that horse play
coarse behavior and personal jokes
of any sort are all wrong? Example is better than precept here
as everywhere.
